

THAW IS INSANE AT PRESENT TIME

And Was at the Time That He Murdered
Architect Stanford White
Last June.

Every Person Who Has Attended the Trial Has Formed This Opinion.

HE IS AT VARIANCE WITH HIS COUNSEL

And Against Their Advice Issued a Statement Attacking Prosecutor Jerome--Dr. Evans Said He Was Insane When He Fired the Fatal Shot.

New York, March 1.—A belief that Harry K. Thaw is actually insane at the present time has become almost unanimous among the officials who have followed the course of the murder trial. Starting as a growing suspicion several weeks ago, the idea became a conviction in the minds of practically all of the wavering ones last evening following the incident of the giving out by Thaw of a statement branding the district attorney's forces as blackguards and persecutors.

And the court officials are not the only ones who believe Thaw insane. While no one in an official capacity can be quoted there is the best of reason for believing that the entire staff of the district attorney is of the opinion that Thaw is mentally unsound. While this opinion may not have become a conviction in the mind of Jerome it is undeniable that the district attorney has shied his efforts from an attempt to convict Thaw of murder to a plan to send him to Matteawan. This fact was written between the lines of every question which Jerome put to insanity expert Evans, the whole trend of his endeavor being rather to prove Thaw insane now, than to prove he was not insane when he shot Stanford White.

PHYSICAL APPEARANCE.
Thaw's physical appearance, his nervousness, and his strange stare have all contributed to the belief expressed in the parlance of the court room hangers-on, that he "has a screw loose." It has been his antagonism to his attorneys, culminating in the giving out of a written statement last night in direct violation of their advice, and without even the knowledge of Delmas, that has clinched the opinion of many that an insanity inquest should be sitting on him instead of a criminal jury.

DR. EVANS FIRST WITNESS.
New York, March 1.—Though outward signs pointed to another day of expert testimony as the result of the calling to the stand of Dr. Evans as the first witness, a feeling was general that surprises of some sort were to be the order of the day, and information to the contrary notwithstanding, the belief could not be downed in some quarters that a lunacy commission was a probability.

Jerome was early on the scene with a formidable array of text books on insanity and papers of reference, which seemed to forbid an interesting farewell fling at Expert Evans. The jury was a bit late in arriving and there was considerable speculation as to whether they had resisted the temptation to read Thaw's statement in the newspapers.

Thaw came in before he was called to the bar and appeared much more nervous than usual, eyeing the newspaper men critically, as if to learn the effect on them of his literary production of late yesterday afternoon. He soon busied himself, however, with his early morning batch of mail.

COURT GIVES ADVICE.
When the court opened Jerome explained to Justice Fitzgerald that another batch of Thaw's letters to Banker Lyon at Pittsburg, had arrived. These were the letter's written since June 25, the night of the shooting, over which the attorneys had a wrangle Tuesday. The package was opened and carbon copies made after the letters had been marked for identification.

In all 21 of Thaw's letters to Lyon are now before the court. Dr. Evans was called to the stand and Jerome resumed the cross examination of the Longfellow letters written by Thaw, which were under consideration all day yesterday.

"Have you any knowledge in regard to the mental condition of this defendant which you have not testified to?" asked Jerome.

Justice Fitzgerald showed his determination to prevent prolongation of the examination by saying:

"For the information of the witness, I will say that 'knowledge' does not mean 'information.' The word 'knowledge' means things you have seen or heard. I do not wish any confusion as to the meaning of the word and a long examination along that line."

Dr. Evans answered as follows: "I think there were some things at my last visit to the defendant which have not been elaborated."

Jerome tried to get a more definite answer, but Delmas interposed and Jerome dropped the point.

Jerome tried to find out from Dr. Evans what he considered the letters Thaw wrote to Lawyer Longfellow showed as to Thaw's mental condition at the time they were written.

"They indicate a condition of mental instability," was the answer. Mr. Evans declined to say this mental instability was insanity, although Jerome pressed him closely on the point. Jerome then showed Dr. Evans the letters Thaw wrote to Comstock's anti-vice society, urging an investigation of White's studios and charging the mistreatment of young girls, and asked if it was the same type of letter as the Longfellow epistle, showing mental instability.

"Please point out in a general way the points indicating mental instability."

Dr. Evans enumerated several points, the charges that young girls were mistreated in these studios, that a crowd of "rich criminals" maintained the places, and that screams had been heard in the rooms. All these things, Dr. Evans declared, indicated that the writer was laboring under a delusion.

Walker in Canada.
Portland, Ore., March 1.—William F. Walker, the missing bank cashier of New Britain, Conn., was located at Ontario, Ore. A detective left for that place to arrest him.

FIGHTING BECOMES GENERAL.
Washington, March 1.—That fighting in Central America became general, with Nicaragua bearing the brunt of the three cornered conflict, was the burden of advices received today. The American representatives at Managua, the capital of Nicaragua, has reported that Nicaragua believes Salvador is actively assisting Honduras in the latter's war with Nicaragua.

THE BOARD OF TRADE MEETING SWELLS FACTORY SUBSCRIPTION

Committees Hard at Work Friday and are Meeting With Success--No longer Doubt That West End Factory
Proposition Will be Carried to Successful Conclusion.

Owing to the rain this afternoon, some of the committeemen did not continue their solicitation of Board of Trade subscriptions. Many who will doubtless contribute to the fund have not as yet been seen, and others who have been visited are now considering the amount they will give to the fund. With the total subscription above the $10,000 mark, there is now no longer doubt of the result, but there is still considerable work to be done and the Board of Trade will be grateful for all assistance rendered.

The citizens' meeting held Thursday evening in the city council chamber was an unqualified success in that it paved the way for completion of the work that the Board of Trade has had on hand for the past ten days.

Captain A. H. Heisey and sons started off the subscriptions of the evening by giving $500. Others added their names to the subscription papers, and a number in addition agreed to give their time to the work of soliciting for the fund. This business like way of proceeding soon enabled President Black to express confidence in the successful outcome of the undertaking.

The hall was comfortably filled by 8 o'clock, when the meeting was called to order. A number of the prominent men of the city were present, but many who should be most deeply interested in the success of the work at hand were conspicuous by their absence. Nearly all of those who in the past ten years have done the active work of the Board of Trade—the men who are responsible for the location of some of the most flourishing of Newark's industries, were present, but some who have large interests in the city, people who will be benefited greatly by the growth and prosperity of the town, were not there. This was commented upon at the meeting but the fact that some were unwilling to shoulder their share of the burden was not allowed to seriously interfere with the progress of the work.

President F. M. Black called the meeting to order and stated the object for which it was called. He outlined the work the Board of Trade has undertaken and stated that the several soliciting committees had by diligent effort secured about $6,000 in cash and about $2,000 in real estate contributions. The Board is endeavoring to raise at least $12,000 for the purpose of bringing the Foster steel rail rolling mill to the city and to enable the Jewett Car company to build an additional erecting shop so as to increase its force by adding 100 or more men. Mr. Black spoke of the obstacles that had been encountered and of the determined effort that had been exerted. He said that unless other subscriptions were quickly secured and unless more men volunteered their services, the plan would have to be abandoned.

When the chairman called for an expression of opinion, a number of the men present made remarks.

Attorney Carl Norpell spoke of some of the things that Newark and the Board of Trade ought to do in order to keep abreast of the times and ahead of other central Ohio cities. He not only favored the present work of the board but hoped that the city and the citizens would encourage proposed traction lines to enter Newark and that the Board of Trade would do all possible towards securing the new state hospital for crippled children, which is to be built soon, and which will require an annual expenditure of several hundred thousand dollars. Mr. Norpell said that Gov. Harris and other members of the committee to select a site will visit Newark in the near future.

Col. W. C. Wells, one of the most active men in the present canvass, and a man who for twenty years, has given both his time and his money for the promotion of the city's interests, followed Mr. Norpell's splendid speech by telling of the committee's visit to the Cumberland, Md., rolling mill and of the investigation made by the Board of Trade before the present effort was undertaken. Mr. Wells incidentally referred to some of the obstacles thrown in the way of the solicitors, but he expressed confidence in the outcome and a willingness to give still more of his time and his property to see the proposition win.

Mr. Black called upon Captain A. H. Heisey for a talk. Mr. Heisey spoke in a practical business like way, and gave some good suggestions as to how to proceed. Mr. Heisey said he was ready to do his part in the work but had been waiting to en-

BOTH SENATORS AND MR. DAWES DENY THE STORY

THAT THEIR SUPPORT OF JUDGE
ADAMS HAS BEEN GIVEN CANDIDATE.

FROM POLITICAL MOTIVES

In Return for Zanesville Jurist's Influence With 15th District Delegates at Dayton.

Washington, March 1.—Letters emphatically denying that the endorsement of J. J. Adams of Zanesville, for appointment as coadjutor United States Judge for the Southern District of Ohio was in pursuance of a political bargain entered into last fall were sent to the White House yesterday afternoon by Senator Foraker, Senator Dick and Representative Dawes of Marietta. The communications were inspired by a statement made by Representative T. E. Burton of Cleveland, during a talk with the President Thursday morning. In the course of a discussion of the Judgeship matter Mr. Burton said to the President that while he might be unable to present proof of the kind required to make a case in court, he felt morally certain that it was a fact that Adams had been recommended because through his influence the delegates to the Republican State convention at Dayton had been lined up with the senatorial combination as against the insurgent faction.

Mr. Burton had scarcely left the executive offices before Representative Dawes put in an appearance. Believing that Burton had said something to the President that was unfavorable to Judge Adams Dawes immediately launched into a defense of the Zanesville jurist.

He told the President that there was absolutely no truth in the story that any such deal described had been arranged, and that the men who had endorsed Adams did so solely on account of his ability and fitness for the bench. The President responded that if the bargain alluded by Burton had been effected it would furnish a serious objection to the appointment of Adams. He did not believe in putting men on the bench for purely political reason, and before he nominated Adams he would have to be convinced that he would not be the subject of a dicker with respect to the faction of the Fifteenth District delegates at Dayton.

Representative Dawes went to the Capitol directly from the White House and reported his conversation with the President to Senators Foraker and Dick. The Senators had anticipated that Adams' nomination would come in Thursday, and accordingly made haste to refute the allegations of Representative Burton. They both sent letters to the President, in which they asserted positively that their endorsement of Adams had been in no sense contingent upon the support they received from the delegates from the Fifteenth district.

Dawes also wrote a letter in which he repeated what he had told the President personally. As evidence that Mr. Burton's allegations were unfounded, he said that Walter Black, brother-in-law of Judge Adams, and State Central Committeeman from the Fifteenth district, had actually voted against Walter Brown of Toledo, the organization's candidate for chairman of the State convention.

Senator Foraker, in his letter declared that he had not spoken to Judge Adams on political matters in ten years, and did not even remember seeing him at the Dayton convention. Senator Dick was equally unequivocal in his denial of the report. The letters of the Senators and Mr. Dawes did not reach the White House until late Thursday afternoon, and, consequently, the President has not had time to consider them. If he accepts their statements at their face value the nomination of Judge Adams will be sent to the Senate today or Saturday. If, on the other hand, he places more credence in what Mr. Burton told him, the nomination of a Judge will in all probability go over until the congressional recess, for it is certain the Senators will not permit the confirmation of any other man at this session at any rate. But the prevailing opinion among the Ohio delegation is that Adams will be appointed.

GLUE PLANT DESTROYED.
Cincinnati, O., March 1.—Fire Friday morning destroyed the Joslyn & Schmidt company's glue and fertilizing plant at St. Bernard, a suburb of Cincinnati, valued at $60,000.

Oklahoma constitutional convention formally killed the separate railway coach proposition by laying the committee report favoring it on the table.

AVENGER SEEKS BALDWIN'S LIFE FOR HIS CRIME

Father of the Wealthy
Farmer's Little Victim
At the Jail

And is Half Crazy With Grief and Thoughts of Retribution

MOB VIOLENCE YET FEARED

Prisoner Murdered Four People Including Little Girl Whom He is Accused of Assaulting.

Bloomington, Ill., March 1.—Thos. Baldwin, the wealthy Colfax farmer in jail here, who shot and killed four persons in his effort to hide his crime against his dead wife's little niece, faces death at the hands of an avenger.

Simeon Elsemann, whose wife and 14 year old daughter were two of the persons slain by Baldwin is here today openly vowing that he will kill Baldwin on sight. Elsemann has tried repeatedly to gain admission to the jail. The half crazy man is being closely watched. Many of Baldwin's neighbors are in town and they are trying to stir up a mob to lynch the murderer.

Baldwin is a mere semblance of his former self. He talks incoherently like a man under a terrible mental strain, and repeats over and over again: "Well, you can't expect a man quietly to submit when his character is being torn to pieces, can you?" with the evident intent of justifying his terrible deed. At times he breaks down and cries like a child.

Baldwin passed a restless night at the jail, pacing the floor until morning. He does not appear to realize the enormity of his crime and thinks only of his indictment by the grand jury for the attack on Cora Elsemann, one of the victims of his bullets. The bottle of whisky found untouched in his coat pocket when captured was found to contain some kind of drug, said to be strychnine.

Through loss of nerve or forgetfulness he failed to take the dose he had evidently intended to use after committing the crime.

Baldwin's defense, it is said will be insanity. He is 63 years of age and long has been noted among his neighbors for his temper.

BALDWIN'S CRIME MOST BRUTAL
Bloomington, Ill., March 1.—Thos. Baldwin, 63 years of age, a retired farmer of Colfax, and a grandfather, shot and killed four persons this morning, because he feared exposure of his recent assault upon a 14 year old girl.

He was brought here by a strong guard of deputy sheriffs, who had trouble in eluding a mob of farmers who gathered at Arrowsmith, near the scene of the crime, threatening to lynch the murderer. At Bloomington Baldwin was hurried through the city secretly in a cab from the outskirts. A crowd of citizens surrounded the jail when he was taken in, but there was no violence attempted. The quadruple murder was one of the most brutal in the history of Illinois.

Last October Baldwin drove to the residence of the Elsemanns, which is two miles from Colfax, and invited Cora to spend Saturday with his daughter. The girl accepted the invitation, returning home Monday following. A few days later she told the story to her mother and later to the Kennedys. Baldwin received a summons from a Bloomington lawyer and was confronted with the girl's father, Simeon Elsemann, a respectable farmer. Baldwin denied the girl's story, but later decided to fix things up. After further conference this agreement was drawn up October 6, 1906:

LEADERS IN VAUDEVILLE WAR.

OSCAR HAMMERSTEIN

PERCY G. WILLIAMS

HARRY SEAMON

NEW YORK, Mar. 1.—Until a few days ago Messrs. Keith & Proctor headed one and Messrs. Williams and Hammerstein another opposing group of managers in the vaudeville business. Now they have combined their interests and formed the United Booking Offices, to supply attractions for all their variety houses. Messrs. Hurtig & Seamon also have allied themselves with the big amusement combine.

Rear Admiral Bob Evans, Fighter From Way Back.

Strenuous Career of Naval Commander Who Wants Government to Own the Anthracite Mines.

Always Ready For a Rough and Tumble Argument When a Boy—How He Entered the Navy and Had to Fight to Stay There—Saved His Legs Only by Spunk—Instances of His Pluck—Stands For the Dignity of the American Flag and the American Sailor.

By ROBERTUS LOVE.

VERY now and then Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, commander of the splendid North Atlantic fleet, does or says something that makes the public pay attention. Just now he has said something that attracts international attention. He proposes "that the government of the United States should at once possess itself of the entire anthracite field of Pennsylvania and return it for purposes of national defense." Admiral Evans admits that the proposition is startling, but he believes its soundness can be demonstrated. He lays particular stress upon the importance of anthracite coal as fuel for war vessels. It is practically smokeless, which is a great advantage. The United States produces nearly all the anthracite in the world, and the admiral would have Uncle Sam buy the coal fields and hold them in perpetuity, thus giving our navy a distinct advantage over all other navies.

This is a highly interesting proposition, but not more so than Admiral Evans himself, who for a score of years has been known as our navy's most picturesque character. Nearly everybody knows him better as "Fighting Bob" than as Admiral Evans. It and, after becoming physically disabled in a fight, he had to fight again to be reinstated in the navy. He is what a westerner might call a fighter from away back.

When Robley D. was about ten years old his father, a Virginia country doctor and farmer, died. The boy went to live with an uncle in Washington, where he entered the public school. The story goes that he was expelled from school for soundly trouncing another boy who sank a toy ship manufactured by the future admiral. The territorial delegate in congress from Utah met the boy and took a fancy to him. "You ought to be in the navy," said the delegate, "and if you'll go and live in Utah long enough to make it legal I'll appoint you." Robley managed to raise funds enough to get to Utah, making a large part of the overland trip in a prairie schooner. On this trip he had occasion once or twice to use a big revolver on Indians who attacked the party. But that there was nothing whatever of the dime novel hero in young Robley's makeup was proved by his sticking right down to business after he reached Salt Lake. In due time he received his appointment and entered the Naval academy, being then only fourteen years of age. That was in 1869, and the next throat and passing out at the back of his neck. He staggered around after dropping his gun and finally pitched over the parapet and rolled down near the, where he lay dead.

No Double Stumps For Him.

Some days afterward young Evans got into the naval hospital at Norfolk, and there he came very near having another fight to save his legs. When they put him to bed he slipped his loaded revolver under his pillow. The surgeons came in and examined his wounds. "Take both legs off in the morning," he heard the chief surgeon order. That night the eighteen-year-old boy did some serious thinking. He was too young to spend the rest of his life—he might live a long while—on double stumps. He resolved that he wouldn't do it; he would die first. When the doctors entered the ward next morning and gently explained to him how serious knee wounds were he informed them that he had overheard the order to cut off both his legs.

"And I won't permit it," declared the young ensign.

"But you know," said the doctor to whom the instructions had been given, "we must obey orders."

Evans reached under his pillow and brought forth his big "navy."

"There are just six bullets in that," he said. "The moment I see you fellows entering that door with anything that looks like surgical instruments I'll begin firing, and I'll kill six of you as sure as shooting."

This created an uproar, but Evans saved his legs. On account of his spunkiness it appears that the doctors neglected him for the time being, and he almost died of fever. "I owe my life," he gratefully acknowledged, "to the wife and little daughter of the very doctor whom I made so mad; they attended me and brought me through."

But his troubles in connection with the Fort Fisher episode were by no means ended. After Evans was able to walk about on crutches his name went up for promotion, and the medical board examined him and recommended his retirement for disability. Accordingly he was retired. Only nineteen and his fighting career closed! No; that was not "Fighting Bob's" way. His right leg was so stiff that he could not walk without crutches, and a man on crutches, to be sure, is not of much use aboard a warship. Evans induced a distinguished surgeon to break his leg over again and let it grow at an angle that would permit him to walk. The operation was successful, and the youth threw away his crutches for the lifelong limp which distinguishes him from every other officer in the navy. Then he made a fight for reinstatement, congress passed a special bill restoring him to the navy, and he was promoted thirty numbers.

Bluffed Bashaw of Tripoli.

Nearly everybody is familiar with the spunky attitude of Evans in the harbor of Valparaiso, Chile, in 1891, when, as commander of the gunboat Yorktown, surrounded by Chilean war vessels, he cleared his ship for action and threatened to fight unless the Chileans quit throwing rocks at his sailors. A somewhat similar incident earlier in his career is not so well known. In 1875 Evans was one of the officers on an American cruiser in eastern waters, when the bashaw of Tripoli insulted the United States consul. Evans was sent ashore to request the bashaw to make amends. The latter refused. Then the characteristic "Fighting Bob's" spunk arose to the surface and emitted fire, smoke and lava in a linguistic sense. The American officer told his dignity, the bashaw of Tripoli, that if he didn't fire a salute of a hundred guns to the American flag at once there wouldn't be enough left of his city to make a respectable mosque. This was what poker players would call a bluff, for Evans was not in command of the ship. However, the bashaw wilted and kowtowed. He regretted that he did not have powder enough to fire the required salute, but he had plenty of food at hand and a chef who knew how to treat the epicurean palate, and he invited the United States naval officers to be his guests at a dinner, where he apologized to the consul and drank to the health of President Grant.

Shortly after the Valparaiso episode the Yorktown was sent to the Bering sea to protect American interests against Canadian seal poachers. A sloop commanded by a husky Canadian skipper hove alongside. Commander Evans was amazed at seeing the skipper standing on deck, a British flag wrapped about his body, wildly gesticulating and loudly articulating, as he pointed to the American flag flying on the Yorktown. Evans boarded the sloop and discovered that the Canadian was cursing the American flag and defying anybody who fought under it. Polite remonstrance availed not. Evans was more amused than angry. He picked up a big blubber fish, a pesty thing like a jellyfish, soft and slippery, and, after swinging it around his head, struck the skipper full in the face. The blow knocked the man overboard. After he was fished out and brought up over the side he apologized for insulting the American flag.

Admiral Evans is one of those commanders who do things first and wire the navy department afterward. After the Maine was blown up in Havana harbor he told Secretary Long of the navy that in his opinion the officer in command of four war vessels which happened to be in the vicinity of Key West at the time should have steamed straight for Havana without waiting for orders and informed the Spanish captain general that he would stand guard over the mine connections to see that no further "accidents" happened. Secretary Long replied that any officer who would have had the audacity to do that would subject himself to the severest reprimand.

"And he would have been elected president of the United States at the next election," retorted "Fighting Bob."

It was about this time that Evans made his famous remark to the effect that if the department would send him to Cuban waters "Spanish would be the only language spoken in hell for the next six months."

The Admiral's Other Side.

Admiral Evans, for all his rough and ready language, has a gentler side. Once he disobeyed orders in an effort to save the life of a sick sailor who was on board his ship. His orders were to proceed to a certain point for target practice; but, knowing that the concussion of the guns would imperil the life of the sick man, he remained where he was for ten days until the sailor died.

At the close of the naval battle off Santiago the wounded Captain Eulate of the sunken battleship Viscaya was brought aboard the Iowa, commanded by Evans. Captain Eulate unbuckled his sword, kissed its hilt and handed it to Evans in token of surrender. Evans immediately handed it back.

Admiral Evans stands up not only for the dignity of the American flag, but for the dignity of the American sailor. Quite recently he declared that never again, except under positive orders, would he take his ships to two or three New England ports where some of his sailors in uniform have been discriminated against by certain elements of the population. A few years ago Admiral Evans was sitting at a table with local dignitaries in the palm garden cafe of the Palace hotel at San Francisco when he observed that two of his jacksies had been ejected on the ground that the cafe had a positive rule against the admission of bluejackets in uniform. The admiral called the men back, invited them to sit at his table and said, "Boys, what will you have?" There they sat for an hour, and nothing was too good for them.

President Roosevelt and Secretary Bonaparte of the navy are of one opinion with Admiral Evans in insisting that the uniform of the enlisted man in the navy must be respected. Not long ago the president contributed $100 out of his own pocket to help pay the costs in a suit brought by a sailor for damages on account of being ejected from a public house. "Fighting Bob" is on the outlook for all such cases, and his language is plain when he speaks of them.

In fact, though he talks and acts in a way that is termed picturesque, "Fighting Bob" is no swashbuckler, but a plain, blunt man of war.

Missouri, Not Mizzouri.

A concurrent resolution was introduced in the Missouri legislature recently providing for the proper pronunciation of the name "Missouri." The following section explains just how it should be pronounced: "That the only true pronunciation of the name of the state in the opinion of the native Indians and that it should be pronounced in three syllables, accent on the second syllable. The vowel in the first syllable is short 'i' (o or oo), in the third short 'i' (s in the two syllables in which it occurs has the sound of 's' and not 'z')." The legislature of Arkansas a quarter of a century ago decided that the name of that state should be pronounced Arkansaw.

The Millinery Airship.

The wholesale milliners are busy preparing the models for spring and summer wear and have managed to scare up some unusually freakish shapes, the most remarkable of which is known as the "airship." This wonderful hat is made of very fine braid, and the model proper comes in the shape of a barrel shaped hood like an airship, which the milliners drape and gather together at the top in the mysterious way known only to the workers, says the Kansas City Star. A jet buckle, a bow of black velvet or a touch of silk adorns the center of the airship, and a plume or two is added for height, giving the most striking effect imaginable.

"The airships are going to be the thing," said a well known wholesaler, "and the women must have them. Freak or no freak, they are the novelty of the hour."

Hollow Glass Bricks.

The demand for hollow bricks and building blocks for house construction has induced glass manufacturers to put hollow glass bricks on the market, and they promise to be used extensively for novel and artistic effects, says the Building Magazine. The first glass bricks, being sold, proved a failure on account of their cost, but the hollow glass bricks can be made at a much less expense. They are lighter and stronger than clay bricks and are such excellent nonconductors that walls built of them are proof against dampness, sound, heat and cold. The bricks are sealed hermetically when hot and are placed in walls with a colorless mortar made of special glass. The bonding strength of the glass mortar is almost as great as the bricks themselves.

Rubber Made From Cereals.

Rubber is being made from cereals, especially wheat grains, macerated and moistened with pyralin, it is said. Unlike other rubber substitutes, this can be hardened or vulcanized by sulphur. It is made in different grades suitable for waterproofing, floor covering, tires, paving and golf balls, and it is hoped by the experimenters that at last the cheap artificial substitute for rubber has been found.

PARDON BOARD TAKES ACTION

Delaware County Prisoner to Be Released From Penitentiary.

FOUND INNOCENT OF CHARGE

Commutations of Sentence Pecommended in a Number of Cases. Heavy Damage Suit Against Railway Company—Value of a Beard. Live News of Ohio State.

Columbus, O., March 1.—The state board of pardons recommended a pardon for William Plogger, a Delaware county prisoner, on the ground that he is actually innocent of the charge of having assaulted a seven-year-old girl, though he had pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary. Plogger took the girl for a ride in a buggy and on her return she told a story which aroused the community. The authorities, fearing a lynching, urged Plogger to plead guilty as a measure of safety. It was later shown that the girl had never suffered from an assault and that Plogger was innocent.

The pardon board recommended the following commutations of sentence: Thomas Ducharme, Cuyahoga county, received at the penitentiary in 1906 for burglary and larceny, 5 years to 18 months; Charles Wiffenbach, Montgomery county, 1904, life to 15 years; Harry Wilson, Clark county, 1904, robbery, 10 years to 5 years; James Hall, Madison, 1904, burglary, 5 years to 3½ years; Frank Gattwood, Fairfield county, 1906, assault, 1½ years to 1 year. The board rejected the application of Ira Reynolds, the civil engineer and marine draughtsman, who was convicted of a bigamous marriage to Mae Smith of Norwalk, for pardon.

Discrimination the Charge.

Wellsville, O., March 1.—The Ohio Silica company has filed an action in the United States circuit court in Pittsburgh against the Pennsylvania Railroad company, asking $200,000 damages. Freight rate discrimination, car shortage and an effort to put the plaintiff company out of business while it was being operated under the name of Juniata Silica company are charged. The filing of the action has created a sensation, and it is alleged that certain potters have been favored by the railroad company for the fight made against the entrance of a new railroad near East Liverpool.

Ruined by Fire; Attempts Life.

Cleveland, O., March 1.—Five workmen in the top story of the John Schaber picture moulding factory on Spring street had a narrow escape from death by suffocation when the building took fire and was partly destroyed. The damage amounts to $60,000. The firemen climbed to the third story and rescued the workmen. Schaber, owner of the factory, collapsed at the fire, and after he had been taken home shot himself with a revolver beneath his heart and in his head. While conscious momentarily, he said he was too old to begin anew. He will probably die.

Hardware Dealers.

Columbus, O., March 1.—The State Association of Retail Hardware Dealers closed its annual meeting after deciding to return to Columbus the last three days of February next year. The meeting here has been the most successful ever held by the association. The following officers were elected: President, C. S. Johnson, Barberton; vice president, Frank W. Ingalls, Bryan; financial secretary, Al Shearer, Dayton; secretary, Frank Bare, Mansfield; treasurer, C. E. Fouts, Middletown.

Gotch Again Fails.

Cincinnati, O., March 1.—Frank Gotch, champion of America, again failed to throw Charles Olson of St. Louis within the 15-minute limit. Olson was never seriously in danger, although decidedly on the defensive all during the bout. Gotch had much trouble in keeping the Swede on the mat and was very much disgusted after it was over.

Smith Surveyor of Customs.

Washington, March 1.—The nomination by the president of Amor Smith to be surveyor of customs at Cincinnati removes from the list one of the places to which the president had in mind the possible appointment of a negro. The president still has under consideration the question of giving some well-known Ohio negro an office in Ohio.

Beard Burned Off.

Wellston, O., March 1.—Samuel Beatty, 76, has been awarded a damage of $101 by circuit court against the Southern Ohio Gas company for the loss of a luxuriant growth of whiskers, burned off in a gas explosion in this city two years ago. E. S. Gilliland received $6,000 for injuries received in the same explosion.

Life Whipped Out.

Toledo, O., March 1.—When Thomas Tighe, 22, was oiling a bearing on the dumps of the Toledo Furnace company, his coat was wound about the end of a shaft and his life was whipped out against the rods and timbers a dozen feet above the ground before the machinery could be stopped.

A NERVE TONIC for Over-Wrought Business Men

Business conditions today ask more of a man's vitality than ever before. It's one continuous drive at high tension, overtaxing the body and brain until a complete breakdown comes.

The nervous system suffers most of all. The demand upon it is the most relentless. To succeed in business today usually means to be a nervous wreck at forty, if not before. For a man working day in, day out, under these conditions is as necessary as food and drink. This unique medical discovery strengthens and tones the nerves to meet this unnatural demand upon them. It supplies to the body phosphorus in soluble form—a thing never before considered possible. Rexall Americanitis has accomplished wonderful results all over the country and its merits are now universally recognized. Get a bottle of this nerve tonic today. Note how quickly that feeling of nervous strain disappears.

Rexall Americanitis Elixir

IRON TRADE REVIEW

Cleveland, O., March 1.—The Iron Trade Review today says:

The center of attraction is pig iron. Keen interest is already displayed in every move and rumor regarding the situation. The air is full of bearish talk and authenticated reports are current that southern prices are being shaded for other deliveries besides the last half.

Considering the number of rumors afloat, which would tend to increase any inherent weakness, remarkable strength is shown. One event which has been widely referred to in newspaper reports as an indication of weakness was the action of a large independent steel maker in refusing, on account of what it considered the excessive price, to take about 50,000 tons of Bessemer and basic pig iron on a sliding scale contract which permitted such action in case the price reached a certain point. The ease with which this tonnage, suddenly thrown upon the market, was absorbed is, however, proof of the strength of present conditions. At the time the iron was refused one interest which makes basic iron was badly in need of iron for its customers and bought a part of the tonnage at about $22, and a large steel making interest, whose production of iron had been curtailed by the blowing out of several of its furnaces was another buyer.

Indications now are that shipments of iron ore from the Lake Superior ranges next season may amount to 42,000,000 tons, about 2,000,000 tons more than has been estimated.

The situation regarding steel bars has now reached an acute stage and delivery promises are about on a par with those on steel plates. If all contracts now on the books are fully specified, mills will operate uninterruptedly for the next seven months. No definite promises are being made on new business and current specifications are so heavy that the leading producers have inaugurated a system of apportionment by which their steel bar output will be divided as equitably as possible, this plan now being in operation on plate distribution.

How sensitive deer are in the matter of food was proved once again during the hearing of a case of Feltham, England, where three men were charged with sleeping in a deer pen in Bushey Park. A keeper said they had pulled down from the racks about ten shillings' worth of hay, which they would not afterward touch because it had been lain upon. In fact, the deer would not go near the pens, as the men had slept there.

The Story of Rexall

REX means "king," and the combination makes REXALL "king of all."

We have proven time and time again that Rexall Remedies are kings above all others.

For more than two years an expert travelled all over the world in search of extraordinary remedies. Whenever he heard of a wonderful cure of any natural or artificial ailment, he personally could see the effect of the prescription used. Where he found the remedy perfect he purchased the prescription, but it was never used until the properties had been thoroughly analyzed by the chemists and physicians of the United Drug Company.

JUDGE S. M. HUNTER

(Cadiz (O.) Sentinel.)
Judge Samuel M. Hunter, well known in this county, died at his late home in Newark, Ohio, on Wednesday evening of last week, aged sixty-nine years.

Judge Hunter was born in Cadiz, was the second son of Hon. Joseph R. Hunter, for so many years a prominent citizen of this place. His boyhood and youth were spent here, going to Newark when 26 years old in 1864, after serving a year in the army. He was a law student of the late J. M. Estep, and he soon stood in the first rank of the Newark bar. He served as councilman, city solicitor, prosecuting attorney and common pleas judge, serving two terms in the latter offices. The people of Licking county took a pride in him, as he was an orator and jurist of whom they might be proud. He was a candidate for governor in 1905, and his county stood loyally by him. Now he has joined Larry Neal and Patterson on the other shore. Three better men could not be selected in Ohio.

We were on intimate terms with Judge Hunter since our boyhood days, and in our life have never found a more loyal friend, or better man in every position in life. With the finest sense of honor he was above a mean action, but was a high-toned honorable gentleman, "as straight as a string," and always ready to do a kind act, despising meanness even to an opponent at the bar, or in the business of life. Generous to a fault he made and kept friends during his whole life.

He had been a sufferer from heart disease for some years, and it was that, with complications, which caused his death.
In his youth he was a leading member of "The Cadiz Literary Junta," an organization which had much favorable influence on so many of the youth of the town of that day, and it was to his ability and enthusiasm was due the fact of its long existence and efficiency. To the survivors of this society the news of his death will cause a heart-ache when they receive the news of his death. Either in youth, or in age, we never knew a better all round man than Sam Hunter. He has always been a favorite with Cadiz people.
He leaves a wife, three daughters and a son, who now is a member of the Newark bar. To them the loss is irreparable. His brother, W. H., died in June last. Rev. Dr. C. J. Hunter of Chillicothe, George F. Hunter of Chillicothe, and Mrs. A. J. Hammond of Cadiz, brothers and sister, survive him.

Our heart feels heavy as we chronicle his death.

able some who would be more benefited than he to put their names on the subscription paper. Captain Heisey and his sons gave $500.
One of the best talks of the evening was made by Mr. A. C. Davis of the P. Smith's Sons' Lumber Company. Mr. Davis regretted that the illness of Mr. W. H. Smith prevented both Mr. Smith and himself from taking an active part in the work, but he showed a willingness to assist in other ways and his remarks created much enthusiasm among those present.

Short remarks were made by Rev. J. W. Maxwell, Harry Russell, O. P. Connor, Mayor McCleery, A. S. Stephan and others, after which a number stepped forward to Secretary Miller's desk and signed the subscription papers and many offered their services for Friday and Saturday. Friday morning the soliciting committee met at the office of the Newark Real Estate and Improvement company and began the day's work with the hope of materially increasing the fund before night. HIS ABLE DECISION.

Justice as It Was Dealt Out in a Certain Village.
The mayor of a village in a western state, under a law by which the mayor is also police judge, had before him a cattle stealing case.
Two men had stolen two steers and sold them to a butcher in the town for the extremely low price of $37.
Now, the jurisdiction of this mayor-police judge extended in such cases only to the limits of petty larceny, which required that the stolen articles be not of a value of more than $35. Beyond this amount the magistrate had to bind the prisoner or prisoners over to the circuit court, subject to the action of the next session of the grand jury. Likewise, in cases thus beyond his jurisdiction, the judge got no fee, and at this particular time, as at many others, he needed the money.
When the evidence had all been adduced the case was as plain as the proboscis on an elephant seen in profile. The men had stolen the cattle, had sold them for $37. No amount of questioning could make the butcher who had bought them say that it was $34.50 or any other amount short of the originally mentioned sum. Apparently no mayor's fee was in sight.
Then the mayor thus summed up the case:
"We have heard the evidence in this case, and the duty of the court is clear. These men stole the cattle. They sold them for $37. Taking the mere prima facie evidence and the bare letter of the law, it would seem that it was a clear and unmistakable case of grand larceny. But I have decided to allow the two prisoners $4 for driving the cattle in to the market. This reduces the selling price to $33, and I fine the two prisoners each $20 and costs. The court is adjourned."—Chicago News.

Quite Likely.
"Some doctors contend that onions are good for weak nerves. Did you ever hear that?"
"No, but I can readily imagine that they'd be good for a weak breath."—Atlanta Constitution.

WANDERED PAST DEPOT AND INTO DRINK EMPORIUM

Charles Finley's Will Power Gave Out at Station Though His Intentions Were Good.

Charles Finley, the Utica man who came to Newark for a pair of shoes and filled up with bad liquor Wednesday night, got himself in bad with the city officials and has been sent to the stone pile for 29 days because he violated the trust which Mayor McCleery placed in him.

Thursday morning, Finley was fined for being drunk. He wanted time enough to go to Utica to get the price of his fine. This was agreed to by the mayor, but when Finley started from the prison to the afternoon train, he forgot the location of the station and went to Gus Kern's saloon where he met a friend and they both got drunk.

Finley was talkative Thursday morning, but Friday morning he merely pleaded guilty, knowing that pleading would be useless. He was given an additional fine of $5 and the costs, making a total of $18 he will have to work out on the stone pile.

Charles Stinger, was "down and out" on Tenth street last night, and Officer Jamison found him. He drew $5 and costs in police court.

OFFICER CARROLL DOES HOLMES STUNT

"Patrick Carroll, detective, arrested William Newman, a Columbus gent, Thursday afternoon for stealing a horse blanket. Patrolman Carroll was strolling past a South Second street second hand store when he noticed Newman enter the place with a paper sack. When the officer walked in the store behind him, Newman became confused and tried to avoid the officer. He hurriedly left the store and Officer Carroll learned that he had sold a $4 horse blanket for 65 cents and immediately took after the man and placed him under arrest.

Newman claims the blanket was found in an alley and that he was innocent of selling stolen property. He drew $5 and costs and 15 days on the stone pile.

BOUGHT 8 TONS OF COAL BUT STOLE BUSHEL FROM R. R.

Frank Fleischman had the double charge of being drunk and stealing coal placed against his name in police court this morning. Frank was brought in by Railroad Officers Roberts and Andrews. He jumped on a coal car in East Newark and threw off a bushel or more of coal. He tried to prove in court that he had bought eight tons of coal recently, but the mayor said that was more the reason why he should be punished. He drew $5 and costs and a 15 days' jail sentence, which was suspended during good behavior.

A Poet Who Won The Hearts of His Countrymen

Serene and Noble Life of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, Born a Century Ago.

The Understandable Poet Whose Writings Appeal to the Heart and Uplift Mankind—A Ripe Scholar, Who Won a World-wide Fame—His Culture Was Universal, Not Merely American.

By ROBERTUS LOVE.

TO be a poet accepted and honored throughout the world while still living and writing is a felicity which falls to the lot of but few men. This felicity was Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's in a greater measure than ever meted out to any other man on earth. This poet was born 100 years ago the 27th day of February. He died twenty-five years ago the 24th day of March. For seventy-five years he lived a serene, studious and noble life. For fifty years he was honored beyond his own community. For forty years he was acknowledged as a poet, and for at least thirty years he knew the satisfaction of being proclaimed the "greatest" American poet.

Longfellow had even a higher distinction than this. During those thirty years of his mature manhood and declining age he was indisputably the most popular living writer of English verse. In general acceptance he surpassed Tennyson even in Tennyson's own land. In the United States his name was perhaps the first native "household word." Longfellow! What a magic sound that name had when we were boys and girls! And to our parents it had had a similar sound of lucid with their intended meanings. Longfellow's theory was that poetry writing is the art of expressing thought rather than of concealing thought. He wrote to the great mass of the common people, the average men and women of the world, and they caught his message and were uplifted by it. They understood it. Verse in which select circles must delve and dig for a meaning is not poetry. The poetic is always the obvious. There is not a line in Longfellow which requires dissection to ascertain what is the matter with it. That is why ultra educated critics of a certain class decry the poetry of Longfellow. It presents no puzzles. The poetry shines in its face.

It may be granted that other poets have been greater artists. Their technique has surpassed Longfellow's. Their "message" has been more potent. But not one of them since time began has reached down or up into the great throbbing heart of humanity and played upon its varying chords with such universal response as has Longfellow. This is not an unsupported statement. The facts show it.

Far Ahead of the English Laureate.

In 1892 there was published a list of a hundred translations of Longfellow's magis. Literature was dotted with imperishable names, but we common people knew them only vaguely if at all. Longfellow we knew not merely as a name, but as something vital and actual.

Was not "The Psalm of Life" in all our school readers? Did we not declaim "Excelsior" at every public school "exhibition" when the other fellow had not beaten us to it? Did we not read and revel in "The Day Is Done," "The Old Clock on the Stairs," "The Ride of Paul Revere," "The Children's Hour" and other household favorites? And a little later did we not weep at the woes of Evangeline and Gabriel, laugh at the awkwardness of old Miles Standish in sending a proxy to court the fair Priscilla Mullins, hop along with Minnehaha in the singsong meter of "Hiawatha" and read with maturer relish the "Tales of a Wayside Inn?"

The Understandable Poet.

A very recent critic has called Longfellow "the poet of the obvious and the humdrum." Other very recent critics have declared that Longfellow had no originality; that he borrowed his material from old world literature and merely changed its form. The very recent critic first mentioned seems to think that Longfellow could not have been a great poet because he attended church regularly every Sunday and enjoyed the sermons. This gentleman apparently believes that to be a true poet one must defy all human conventions, as did Shelley and Byron—must be erratic and erotic. Longfellow lived a sober, decent, respectable life and won a worldwide fame while he was living it. Why? Because he interpreted what you may call "the obvious and the humdrum" if you like, and he interpreted them in language both clear and poetic. He was the understandable poet.

Of course that small circle which sits around study tables one night in the week from year trying to discover the "hidden meanings" in an unpoetic utterance of Robert Browning, each claiming the discovery of a different meaning and dragging it to light on the hair of its head, then fighting for it during the next fortnight, can find nothing to thrill in the obvious lines of Longfellow. Those lines are remarkable as well as admirable. There was nothing of the pedant in him. Yet the ancient and modern languages were at his tongue's end, one might say, and both by reading and travel he knew the world of the past and the present. An unaffected natural simplicity was, in fact, the prevailing note in Longfellow's life as in his writings.

No Infant Prodigy.

Longfellow was no infant prodigy. He wrote practically no poetry worth publishing until he was past thirty years of age. He was thirty-two when he wrote "The Psalm of Life," which first brought him fame. He finished "Evangeline" at forty, that being his first extended essay into poetic narrative. Most of his ambitious work was done after he passed the fortieth meridian. Nearly all his verse was the product of his mature life.

Until far into middle life the poet was "Professor" Longfellow. For nearly twenty years he occupied the chair of modern languages at Harvard, and for several years in his earlier manhood he had held a similar chair at Bowdoin, where in his nineteenth year he was graduated. During his professorship days he made two trips to Europe for the study of modern languages. Later he made two more trips for the study of modern conditions and just to see the world and broaden his experiences.

Professor Longfellow was not merely respected by the young collegians whom he instructed in literature and languages. They loved him. Thomas Wentworth Higginson, one of those fortunate boys, tells in a current magazine article how John Revere, grandson of the Paul Revere whose ride the poet made forever famous by his stirring ballad, was once the leader of a student revolt at Harvard. Several of the professors visited the rioters on the campus and sought to interfere. "Go home and go to bed, old Doxy Prosy," was the greeting which one solemn professor received in addition to being grabbed by Revere and others and forcibly faced around toward his home. Another professor had to run the gauntlet. Then Revere suddenly exclaimed:

"Boys, here's Professor Longfellow. We'll hear him. He always treats us like gentlemen."

The rebellion ended then and there. Colonel Higginson says that Longfellow was the first of the Harvard professors to address the students with the title "Mr." He treated them as if they belonged to his own circle of polished gentlemen, and the boys honored him accordingly. Professor Longfellow was perhaps the most traveled and cultured member of the Harvard faculty at the time. His culture was universal, not merely American.

A World Poet.

Even for that quality some of his critics are wont to berate him. They aver that he drew his inspiration from Europe. Yet we have "Evangeline," a story altogether American; we have "Hiawatha" and "The Courtship of Miles Standish," of which the same may be said; we have numberless examples of lyric and dramatic or narrative verse inspired purely by American incidents or institutions. Supplementary to these we have many beautiful pieces suggested by the poet's travels abroad and by his browsings in foreign literatures and histories. Thus Longfellow really made himself what he aspired to be—a world poet. That he was a world poet and not merely "America's poet," as Queen Victoria called him, needs no further proof than the hundred or more translations.

And as for originality, Shakespeare borrowed practically all his plots. Shakespeare put originality into his method of expression. Longfellow did likewise. The student of literature is able to identify a passage of blank verse as Shakespeare's, even though he may not have read it previously. Likewise the student of literature can identify a Longfellow poem. There is something in the manner of saying the thing which reveals the author. James Russell Lowell, who lived very close to Longfellow in Cambridge, wrote a couplet which should put the quietus upon critics who assume that nothing is original unless the idea is new. Said Lowell:

Though old the thought and oft expressed,
'Tis his at last who says it best.

Appealed to the Heart.

Longfellow said many things better than anybody else said them. He may not have spoken to the highly intellectual a message of prophecy or interpretation such as was spoken by Walt Whitman or by Emerson. These men appealed to the soul and Longfellow to the heart. They were metaphysical. Longfellow was emotional.

Very serene was this poet's life. For forty-five years he lived in one house, the old Cragie place on Brattle street, in Cambridge, one of those very numerous houses in New England "where George Washington slept." He had two sad bereavements, the death of his first wife in his youth while the couple were traveling and studying in England and the death of his second wife, many years thereafter, in the Cambridge home.

Aside from these bereavements the poet's life flowed serenely on for full three-quarters of a century. He must have been one of the happiest of men because his early aspiration for literary renown was fulfilled even beyond his boldest dreams. Two years ago the state of Maine erected at an exposition in Portland, Ore., a reproduction of the Longfellow birthplace in Portland, Me. Above the portal were the words "America's Greatest Poet." This is the Longfellow century, and, while the critics may dispute his greatness in the severely critical sense, there is still no question that he is and is the greatest in the hearts of his countrymen.

COSHOCTON POLOISTS THROW FIT BECAUSE NEWARK PLAYS ROUGH

Want Rules Enforced That Would Look well in Marble Game—Newark Was Close Game From Uhrichsville Last Night at Palace Rink.

The Coshocton poloists must have been a real competitor last night, for about the only thing to be found in the sports columns of either of the two Coshocton papers is a statement from MGR. FEUER about how he will sever athletic relations with Newark.

It seems that Newark has played too roughly for the Coshocton little ones, and that they refuse to play unless rules which would govern a "drop the handkerchief" game are enforced on the polo floor.

No doubt if MGR. FEUER would go up to the interstate territory he would find that game there are somewhat rougher than they are in this little league.

The Coshocton poloists have commenced to win from them with astonishing regularity. Then the game was too rough and Newark players were rowdies and fighters.

Polo fans in Newark have understood ever since polo was first talked of that the game was not fit to be played in a drawing room. We have a sneaking idea that we can run the Palace rink here in Newark and continue to play polo without the assistance or aid of MGR. FEUER and his class of Sabbath school children.

We will admit that Coshocton has a team which is worthy of our mettle and until the local team was strengthened by the arrival of Haffback Farmer, winning from the Coshocton bunch was a hard proposition.

A new polo schedule has been formed and the Coshocton Age observes as follows:

"It will be noticed that Coshocton and Newark have no dates. The local management intends to remain firm to their word not to let Newark play here again. If the Newark boys desire it, the locals will play their benefit there, but that will end all relations between the Newark and Coshocton polo teams unless the personnel of the team is changed."

NEWARK WON FROM UHRICHSVILLE TEAM

In the polo game at the Palace rink last night, Newark defeated Uhrichsville in a game that was close from the start to the finish and which was exciting to the 300 or more fans who turned out to see the contest.

Uhrichsville's only point was a mark of charity handed out by the Newark team, and in fact the score should have been 2 to 0 in favor of Newark.

During the three periods of play, Newark scored two goals. Uhrichsville failed to locate the Newark goal during the entire game, but on account of three fouls called by the referee, Uhrichsville was given one point, which saved them from a shutout.

One of the fouls called on Newark was on Farmer, who drove the ball viciously for the Uhrichsville goal in the first period and crashed into the goal.

Denison was offered three dates, but they demand a Thanksgiving day game or none, and got the latter. It was hoped that these two colleges would resume athletic relations this fall, but it will be another year now before the two teams will clash on the gridiron.

The relations were severed two years ago when State made an unreasonable demand for 35 minute halves in a football game. Denison however got a baseball date with State.

The schedule as it now stands follows:

Sept. 28—Otterbein.
Oct. 5—Wittenberg or Muskingum
Oct. 12—Miami.
Oct. 19—Wooster.
Oct. 26—Michigan at Ann Arbor.
Nov. 2—Kenyon.
Nov. 9—Oberlin.
Nov. 16—Case.
Nov. 23—Heidelberg.
Thanksgiving—Medley or Wesleyan.

Pitcher Henderson Who Tried Out Here Last Year, Also Signs Up With Newark.

Secretary Hopkins late Friday afternoon received the signed contracts from Clinton E. Webb of Delaware, a pitcher with last season's team, and L. W. Henderson, a pitcher who tried out here last season.

Henderson comes from New Salem where he played last summer with an independent team. He has a record of having played 20 games without losing one. Aside from Henderson's lack of experience, he looked good year, and it is possible that Newark has a find in the elongated twirler.

BOWLING

Newark bowlers will be allowed to compete for the gold medal offered by the Columbus Citizen to the bowler who makes the highest average in the nine games of the Columbus tournament which opens Monday, March 4. Newark bowlers can enter the tournament for prizes and for special prizes so designated including the handsome Citizen medal. The attendance promises to be large on the part of the bowlers in Central Ohio.

The match game between the Strollers and Consumers was won by the Strollers in three straight heats. Mack captured high score, also high average. NO FOOTBALL FOR DENISON WITH OHIO STATE

Ohio State's football schedule has been completed and Denison has failed to get a date on the list with the Columbus college.

A story from Columbus says that

ASHVILLE "CHAMPS" PLAY AT ZANESVILLE

Zanesville, March 1.—The Ashville basketball team will arrive in the city over the suburban this evening at 7 o'clock. The players will go directly to the rink, as the game will be called at 7.30 o'clock, to begin the tug of war with Zanesville for the championship of Central and Southern Ohio.

The game tonight will be one of the fastest yet to be played in the rink. The members of the Ashville team are big, husky players and will greatly outweigh the locals. They have not been defeated this year and hope to win the championship.

Last year when Ashville wanted a game, Newark stepped up and put them out of the running. So it can be seen that Zanesville has occupied about the same position toward Ashville that West High of Cleveland has toward Zanesville.

Rogers will be out of the game tonight on account of sickness. Zanesville will have the following lineup: left forward, Thomas; right forward, Trout; center, Roberts; left guard, Horn; right guard, Abele. Ashville has not announced her lineup.

DEAF MUTE NEEDS AN INTERPRETER

IN GIVING HER TESTIMONY AT THE TRIAL OF MAX MCCANN FOR ASSAULT.

Superintendent of Deaf and Dumb Asylum at Columbus Acting in This Capacity.

The case of Ohio vs. Max McCann is on trial to the court and jury today. The defendant is charged with criminal assault, the offense being alleged to have been committed in this city September 18. The prosecuting witness is a deaf mute. Mr. J. W. Jones acted as interpreter. Fitzgibbon; Jones & Jones.

Mr. Jones is superintendent of the Deaf and Dumb Asylum at Columbus and is an expert at the business. He keeps his face closely shaven so that his facial expression will be perfect, and in his conversation with the young girl he resorts to facial contortions and suggestions outside of the usual spelling out or words. The interpretation is more rapidly done than it would be in another language.

In the case of the State of Ohio vs. Aaron Mitchell the motion for a new trial was overruled. The court sentenced the defendant to the Boys' Industrial school at Lancaster.

Defendant's Answer.

The answer of defendant in the case of George B. Mack vs. The Buckenberger Home Supply Company has been filed with the clerk of the court. Defendant denies all the allegations in plaintiff's petition.

For a second defense he says that on November 9, 1904, a petition in bankruptcy was filed against the defendant by the Sheldon Dry Goods company in the District court of the United States for the Southern District of Ohio, eastern division, and that defendant was declared a bankrupt; that the business of the answering defendant has been wound up by a trustee appointed by the court in bankruptcy and that the answering company has been dissolved and is not longer in business and is insolvent, and that all claims against it have been adjudicated and all its assets converted into money and applied to its debts and obligations. Defendant asks that the petition be dismissed and that it go hence with its costs. Kibler & Montgomery, attorneys for defendant.

Amended Answer.

In the case of Wm. Vanatta vs. The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company and others, the defendants have filed an amended answer in which they deny all the allegations made in the amended petition of plaintiff. They say that if the planking referred to was out of repair, plaintiff's want of due care contributed to the accident in that he negligently drove his horse over the part of the plank when the accident happened, when by the exercise of ordinary care he could have seen the alleged defect of the same existed, and have avoided the same. Kibler & Montgomery, attorneys for defendant.

WHO PROCEEDED TO SHOOT UP THE PASSENGER STATION AT CLAY LICK.

Newark Dispatcher Telegraphs to Zanesville Police, But Later Let Men Escape

Alkali Bill or Terrible Jake are not in it with two desperadoes who boarded east bound B. & O. freight train, which passed through Newark about 8:10 Thursday night, and on reaching Clay Lick proceeded to shoot some holes in the windows of the station at that place. Fortunately no one was hurt, but that was not the fault of the marksmen.

Who they are or where they are from remains to be guessed at. Nevertheless, the night dispatcher of the B. & O. here sent a message to the Zanesville police to be on the lookout for the two as the train reached Zanesville. The conductor of the freight failed to stop when the train passed through that place and the officers had no chance of capturing the men, although they reported that they had seen two men on a cattle car as it passed by. They didn't shoot in Zanesville.

Disappointed at failing to land the two shooters, the officers were gratified to discover a seedy looking individual who says he is a bum and hails from Los Angeles, Cal. This man told the police of a thrilling hold up on a train east of this city in which he was the victim. He did not state how long the highwaymen held him. He was given night's lodging in the Zanesville "house of refuge."

The latest reports furnish proof that the practice of anti-typhoid inoculations in the army has resulted in a substantial reduction in the incidence and death rate of enteric fever among the inoculated.

SWIMMING TIME

When it's hotter than Inferno
In the office or the street,
Willie splatters in the bayou,
Treading water with his feet.

Splashing, ducking, diving, choking
In a shady, cool retreat,
He picks bottom with abandon,
Meanwhile treading with his feet:

But tonight when mother gets him
In the woodshed, grim and still,
She will tread a little shingle
On the bottom of her Bill.

SACRED CANTATA

AMUSEMENTS

UNCLE JOSH PERKINS.

This play comes to the Auditorium Saturday, matinee and night, and is replete with smiles and thrills and is declared one of the most lifelike dramatic offerings seen here in a long time, true to all the scenes it attempts to depict and with vivid types of characters, lifelike and natural in presentation. "Uncle Josh" is noted a big success wherever seen. The four acts are equally divided between New York City and Vermont, the play centering about the efforts of a sharp New York attorney to marry Edith Marston, an heiress, for her money. How his plot is foiled by Uncle Josh and the happy termination; make a seeable play, which will doubtless attract a large audience to the Auditorium. Splendid specialties will be presented during the various acts of the drama.

REPERTOIRE NEXT WEEK.

"Let No Man Put Asunder," is the rather peculiar title of one of the matinee bills of "The Americans," who begin a week's engagement Monday next at the Auditorium with daily matinees. The play takes the right side of the divorce evil, holding that it is fundamentally wrong. How two young people were estranged by a trifling misunderstanding and how through the love of their little dead child they were brought to see their error is so prettily told that the bill has become a very great favorite with the lady audiences who come to witness the performances of "The Americans." In Richmond, Ind., three weeks ago, "The Americans" were requested to repeat the play twice, each time to audiences composed almost entirely of ladies. There is no blood and thunder in the four acts, just a simple heart story which brings tears to the eyes and leaves everyone better for having seen it.

SOCIAL EVENTS AT GRANVILLE

MRS. J. L. KILPATRICK AND MR. AND MRS. J. M. ROBINSON ENTERTAIN.

Bishop Vincent to Visit Granville on March 8—Mrs. Frank Granger's Funeral.

Granville, O., March 1.—One of the most delightful social events of the past week was the entertainment by Mrs. J. L. Kilpatrick at her beautiful home on Prospect Hill on Wednesday afternoon of the members of the Thimble club and Women's Literary club. There were about fifty ladies present who listened to the interesting program in honor of Longfellow's birth, which was announced by the hostess in her usual fluent, graceful style. Mrs. C. J. Baldwin having enjoyed the privilege of meeting the poet during her residence in Boston was eminently fitted for opening the program with a sketch of his life, which proved highly interesting. Mrs. Hines was, as always, delightful in a general review of his work and influence. Mrs. McKibben recounted briefly a personal reminiscence of her college days at Wellesley in which the poet was the central figure. "The Day is Done," that old song so dear to the hearts of many, was sung by Mrs. Hundley with a tenderness and depth of feeling most impressive, while the accompaniment by Mrs. White but added to the artistic interpretation of the singer. Mrs. Burton Case read an interesting personal letter from Mrs. E. S. Shepardson, who is spending the winter in Boston and who being in the midst of the very elaborate celebrations of the Longfellow centenary in that city, was able to impart much of her own interest and enthusiasm to this audience of which she was all unconscious while writing. At the conclusion Mrs. Case was requested by the hostess on behalf of the entire company, to forward a cordial message of loving appreciation for the pleasure afforded by this unwitting participation in the day's program, by one who had in days gone by graced many another occasion by her presence.

In the dining room Mrs. E. W. Hunt and Mrs. R. S. Colwell presided at the table which was beautifully decorated with yellow jonquils and lighted candles, while dainty refreshments were passed by Misses Delziel, Kibler, Benedict, Jones and Gilpatrick.

Although marked by no great formality nor ceremony, the occasion was a notable one and one greatly appreciated by all present.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Robinson entertained a large number of their friends on Tuesday evening in honor of their sons, Frank S. and Hubert Robinson. The house was profusely decorated with palms and potted plants and the evening was spent in having a good social time, seasoned with a fine supper. Prizes were won by Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Sedgwick of Newark, Mrs. M. B. Kerr and Mr. John Davies of Columbus. Among those from out of town who were present were Dr. and Mrs. Sedgwick of Newark, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Carner and Mr. John Davies of Columbus. The hostess was assisted by her sister, Miss Devinney, Mrs. W. J. Pond and Mrs. Elizabeth Spellman.

Charles Willis, a young man who has been engaged as a laborer on one of the gas lines north of Granville, met with a very painful accident Thursday. He was engaged in repairing some of the rigging on a derrick when he missed his hold and fell to the ground a distance of about fifteen feet, fracturing his left arm and sustaining other injuries of a very painful nature. At this writing he is resting comfortably, but it will be some time before he will be able to return to work.

On Sunday morning at the Presbyterian church communion service will be held. Preparatory services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The subject for the evening discourse will be "Nazareth and the Nazarene."

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nesbitt of Marion, O., who have been visiting friends in Granville and vicinity for some days, returned home Thursday.

Miss Nellie Williams of Columbus spent Friday with friends in the village.

At St. Luke's Episcopal church on Friday, March 8, at 12 o'clock noon, there will be services conducted by Archdeacon MacKenzie of Columbus, and George Dickinson of Bexby Hall, Gambier. The Right Rev. Bishop Boyd Vincent of Cincinnati will address the congregation and administer the rite of confirmation to a number of candidates.

The funeral services over the remains of the late Mrs. Martha E. Grenger, wife of Mr. Frank Granger, who died so suddenly Tuesday night, were held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Ralph Granger, on East Broadway, and the interment was made in Maple Grove cemetery. Mrs. Granger's two daughters were in attendance at the funeral and among others from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. David Sloane of Chicago, Mrs. Mary Griffith, Mrs. Frank Weaver and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Tuttle of Columbus.

Charles Harman, who has been in West Virginia during the past week, has returned home.

Mr. Ott Jones, who has been engaged in business in Columbus for the past several years, is moving on his mother's farm, north of Granville.

The annual meeting of the Baptist Ladies' Social Union was held in the church parlors Thursday afternoon, February 28, with the president, Mrs. C. J. Baldwin, in the chair, and officers elected for the ensuing year are: President, Mrs. C. J. Baldwin; vice president, Mrs. Burton Case; secretary, Miss Mary Wilson; treasurer, Mrs. G. T. McKibben. The flower committee is composed entirely of young people: Misses Ray Gilpatrick, Stella Case, Mary McKibben, Esther Field, Elizabeth Ewart, Messrs. Frank Ashmore, Oscar Spencer. Standing committee: Mrs. Burton Case, Mrs. McKibben, Mrs. Field, Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. Proutie, Mrs. Gee.

The Philomathean Literary society of Shepardson college will hold a short story contest at Recital Hall this evening.

None For Her.

Miss Ann Teek—Really, some of the young girls nowadays are positively awful! The idea of a girl being engaged to two young men at the same time! It's just shameful!

Miss Cutting—Besides, you find it aggravating also, don't you?—Philadelphia Press.

Some Compensations.

Benevolent Lady (going over asylum, to a lunatic)—Poor man! What a sad existence for you—always being cooped up in this place!

Lunatic—Not at all, madam. The fools who come to see us are sometimes quite amusing.—Bon Vivant.

His Theory.

"You deny that there is any such thing as hard times?"

"Certainly," answered Mr. Dustin Stax. "Prosperity is always with us. The only difficulty is that it sometimes becomes rather concentrated and circumscribed."

A Living in the Soil.

"There's a man who gets his living out of the soil, even though he does work in the city all the year round."

"Nonsense! How can he do that?"

"He's the owner of a laundry."

FOOD POISONS

90 Per Cent of All Diseases the Result of Undigested Putrefying Foods

Men of affairs, women of society and children with active brains are too often sedentary in their habits, giving little time to exercise. To this evil is added that of high and irregular living—as a result, the stomach cannot stand the demands made upon it. The abused and overtaxed stomach does not properly do the work of digestion, food taken in ferments and the poison permeates the whole system. The body loses in weight and becomes a prey for the attack of whatever disease it may encounter.

Did it ever occur to you how busy that stomach of your is? It only holds three pints, but in one year you force it to take in 2,400 pounds of material, digest it and prepare it for assimilation into the blood. No wonder it rebels when overworked. We crowd it with steaks and pastry, irritate its juices with spices and acids, and expect the stomach to do its work. It can't do it.

All over the inner layer of the stomach are glands which secrete the juices necessary to digestion. The entrance of food into the stomach is the signal for these glands to do their work. The more the food, and the more indigestible, the greater the demand upon them and upon the muscles of the wall adjoining.

Think of the tons of high-seasoned game, sweetmeats and appetizers crammed into this little four-ounce mill, and then wonder, if you will, why you are dizzy or nauseated or constipated. Don't blame your stomach or curse your fate that you should be born so unfortunate. Blame yourself and apply the remedy.

First, get a small package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, taking one after each meal and at bedtime. They are not a medicine, but a digestive. Your stomach is worn out and needs help, not medicine. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will do the work that the stomach fails to do. There's enough power in one grain of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to digest 3,000 grains of ordinary food, so you needn't fear that anything you eat will remain in your stomach undigested.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will rout the poison because they remove the cause—food fermentation. They are nature's own cure for dyspepsia. The host of troubles, dyspepsia is father of cannot be numbered, for a healthy stomach is the source of all health.

Seize your opportunity before worse conditions confront you. Send today for a free trial package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They will bring your stomach relief. F. A. Stuart Co., 82 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

STREET SUIT FOR SPRING WEAR.

The sketch illustrates a two-piece walking suit, the model being equally practical for voile, light-weight cloth, fine mohair or taffeta. The original gown was in brown and white to check voile, the little vest and fancy collar being of leaf-green cloth applied with straps of brown satin. Small satin-covered buttons were also used in trimming. The little jacket was in Eton effect, and was belted in by a stitched strap of the material, stitched straps also finishing the fronts. The sleeves just turned the elbow, and the skirt was made with tucked sections set in between box-plaited panels.

RHEUMATISM BREAKS DOWN THE STRONGEST CONSTITUTION

Rheumatism is caused by a sour, acid condition of the blood, brought on by chronic constipation, weak kidneys, poor digestion and a general sluggish condition of the system. Because of these irregularities the refuse and waste matters of the body are not promptly expelled, but are left to sour and ferment, producing irritating acids which are taken up by the blood and distributed to all parts of the system. This acid matter weakens and disorients the blood so that instead of supplying the body with nourishment, healthful properties it deposits the poison with which it is loaded into the muscles, nerves, bones and joints, and Rheumatism gets complete control of the system. Some suffer almost constantly with the disease, while others have intervals of freedom, during which they live in constant dread of the next attack, when an exposure to cold or dampness or some other irregularity will cause the symptoms to return. If the cause is not removed Rheumatism will progress and reach a point where it becomes incurable, and the strongest constitution will break down. S. S. S. has been curing Rheumatism for more than forty years. It attacks the disease at its head by going down into the blood and removing every particle of the acid matter and building up the weak, sour blood to a state of purity and richness. S. S. S. is the King of blood purifiers, just what is needed for the cure of Rheumatism. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice sent free.

New Spring Suits

CORRECT AND EXCLUSIVE STYLES

WE ARE now prepared to show you a collection of fine suits for ladies, which for superior quality and exclusive styles, far surpass any of our lines of former seasons. Models of character and elegance, and cloths of every conceivable kind are in evidence. Suits of Panama, Voile, French Serge, Chiffon, Braid Cloth, Fancy Mixtures—the popular checks, plaids and new stripe effects—all the new shades of tans, grays, navy and black and white effects, and handsome black embroidered suits—suits of every new model. The new Eton with wide plait, giving the broad-shouldered effect, often termed the "Gibson" style; pony and short fitted coats; plain tailored effect, and the more dressy styles with persian banded vests, fancy button and broadcloth band trimmings, while little touches of old rose is often seen on many handsome models. You may pay $15.00, or you may pay $65.00, or any price between these extremes, you will find dozens of pretty styles.

NEW SHIRT WAISTS

YOU MIGHT not know you can see today in our store, more styles of the new waists than you can see in a manufacturer's line. We have four lines on display—the best picked out—and like every other line, the finest are shown first. While we have a very nice assortment at $1.00, from $3.50 to $10.00 we can show you every new idea in waists. Beautiful waists of Persian Lawns, Batistes, Mercerized and Lingerie Cloths, trimmings of Meekin, Val and Irish Crochet Lace, fine tuckings; while many models show a combination of fine embroideries and lace. The new yoke effects, open backs, three-quarter length sleeve—as well as many plainer styles in linen and madras, for those who desire a more tailor-made effect.

WHITE RUSTLED COMPLETED DEAL

AND CONTROL OF THE TWO CLEVELAND GAS LIGHT COMPANIES

Passed From the Old Stockholders to Company Organized by Former Newark Man.

Cleveland, O., March 1.—The alleged fact that the deal for the sale of stock of the Cleveland Gas Light and Coke company and the People's Gas Light company to the Columbia Gas and Electric company had been completed will probably put an end to application for a temporary injunction.

When court convened Thursday afternoon Judge Estep said he would be inclined to dismiss the application unless the attorneys for Mrs. Margaret K. Smith could show that the deal was not completed. Affidavits of Archie S. White, Caleb Gowen and the directors had been filed by the defendants, showing a completion of the transactions.

After considerable discussion as to the taking of oral testimony Judge Sanders was sworn as a witness. He said the mortgage had been in the office of Squires Sanders & Dempsey "until a few days ago."

Control of the two Cleveland artificial gas companies has passed completely out of the hands of the old stockholders, according to other witnesses.

By the deal the Columbia Gas and Electric company acquires ownership of 90 per cent of the stock of the Cleveland Gas Light and Coke company and 95 per cent of the stock of the People's Gas Light company.

Since the taking of depositions on Tuesday the $25,000,000 mortgage of the Columbia company has been completed and filed in West Virginia, the $9,000,000 in bonds and $3,000,000 in common stock have been delivered to the stockholders of the two local companies, and they have surrendered their holdings to Promoter Archibald S. White and his associates.

White has been away from Cleveland for several days, and it is now believed he has engineered the quick action.

MOURNED AS DEAD BUT HE IS ALIVE

Delaware, March 1.—A few minutes after the student body of Ohio Wesleyan university had adopted resolutions of sympathy on the announced death of Frank G. Omdorff, a student, and after Dr. W. F. Whitlock had delivered a snort eulogy and the faculty had sent a telegram of condolence to the parents of the young man, a telegram was handed President Welch, Harrisburg, the young man's home, which gave the information that today the sick student was somewhat improved and hopes were entertained for his recovery.

E Baldwin from all damage suffered by me on account of claimed assault committed by Thomas Baldwin upon my daughter Cora Eismann, on or about September 24, 1906.

"SIMSON EISEMAN."

Baldwin thought all was settled, and when he was arrested last week following the grand jury action he was violent in his rage.

Baldwin, who has heretofore led a most exemplary life, was indicted by the last grand jury. He came into the Circuit court last week and gave bond in the sum of $2,000 for his appearance when his case was called for trial.

Thursday he evidently determined to fix everybody connected with his prosecution, for he drove from Colfax to Arrowsmith in a buggy and went to the homes of his victims. At the Kennedy home he blew the brains out of the Kennedys. He expected to find the Eismann girl there, in all probability, as she had been staying some of the time with the Kennedys, who are relatives, but as she was not there he killed both Kennedy and his wife, then went to the Eismann home, where he shot down Mrs. Eismann and the girl he is charged with having betrayed. So far as is known he made no attempt to escape. He was soon in the custody of a deputy sheriff and was brought to the county jail in the afternoon.

The whole country about Arrowsmith is inflamed over the horrible affair, and threats of lynching are freely made.

HOPES TO SETTLE STRIKE.

Cleveland, O., March 1.—In the hope of settling differences which threaten a strike including all the great lakes ship yards, Vice President Wood of the Ship Builders' union has called a meeting for Monday of the executive committee of the organization.

"We want uniform conditions in all yards," he said. "If we must strike, every plant from Buffalo to Duluth will be forced to shut down."

MASONIC LODGE AT GRANVILLE

UNDERWENT THE ANNUAL INSPECTION BY DISTRICT LECTURER RAWLINGS

Many Masons From Newark Attended the Function, Which Was Followed by Banquet.

Granville, O., March 1.—The annual inspection of Center Star Lodge, No. 11, F. & A. M., of Granville, was made on Thursday night by District Lecturer A. L. Rawlings. The fact that the lodge was to be inspected brought out a large number of the members of the lodge and the Newark car brought up about 40 Masons from that city, including Past Grand Master W. M. Cunningham.

The meeting was called to order by Dr. H. R. Hundley, W. M., of the lodge and the inspection of the lodge was made by District Lecturer Rawlings, after which the third degree was conferred on two candidates by Worshipful Master Hundley and District Lecturer Rawlings.

The work was not completed until nearly midnight. One of the features of the evening was the six course dinner served by Mrs. Jane Buckland at her home on West Broadway, of which over 75 persons partook, and all that the most fastidious could wish for was there before him.

At a late hour the Newark brothers returned home well pleased with the evening's enjoyments.

In connection with the inspection of Center Star lodge it is but proper to state that this lodge was the first lodge of Masons to be organized in Mr. Job Case, Timothy Spellman, Justin Hillier, David Butler and Elias Gilman. These gentlemen having received the degrees symbolic of Masonry in New England, united with a few others and presented a petition to Lewis Cass, grand master of Masons of Ohio, early in 1810, praying for a dispensation to organize a lodge in Granville. Mr. Cass came to Granville in person and organized the lodge in the upper room of the dwelling of Deacon Timothy Rose. The lodge was chartered in 1811, and numbered 11 persons. Its first officers were: Job Case, worshipful master; Timothy Spellman, senior warden, and Noble Landon, junior warden.

The first place of meeting was in a room in the second story of the residence of Elias Gilman, finished off for that purpose. The first Masonic hall in the county was built in Granville and was ten by fourteen and a half feet in size. It had a window on the east side, a fire place on the west side, and was the first room finished off and plastered in Granville. About a year after the organization of the lodge a larger and more convenient room was secured in the residence of Grove Case. The first candidate initiated in this lodge was Hiram Rose. The first return to the grand lodge included 1810 and 1811, and showed a membership of 20 Master Masons, and at the end of 1812 the membership had increased to 39.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Regarding the present milk situation, we desire to announce to the public that while we do not advance the price of milk at this time, we will be compelled to do so next Fall, as it is impossible for us to arrange for our milk supply for another winter except at a decided advance over old prices, due to the sharp advance in the price of all feed products which the milk producers must pay.

We make this statement at this time in justice to ourselves and our competitors, and that any new trade coming to us may understand the situation and not feel that we are endeavoring to take undue advantage of the public.

THAW WAS INSANE WHEN HE WROTE CERTAIN LETTERS

SAID DR. BRITTON D. EVANS, THE FAMOUS INSANITY EXPERT THURSDAY.

JEROME UNPROFESSIONAL

Says the Prisoner in a Statement Issued by Him—Thursday's Proceedings.

New York, March 1.—Dr. Britton D. Evans, the alienist, was again in the witness chair in the Thaw trial, undergoing cross-examination by District Attorney Jerome. The witness and the prosecutor spent nearly the whole day in going over eight letters written by Thaw and culling out of them some excerpts on which Dr. Evans based his expressed belief that they were written by a person of unsound mind.

"Do you mean an insane person?" asked Mr. Jerome.

"Yes," replied the witness, "but not in the sense that the person might always remain insane."

This was the essence of the day's work. Mr. Jerome seemed as interested as the expert in searching out the phrases in the letters which might be construed as the writings of an insane man, and for the first time the jurors were permitted thoroughly to examine photographic copies of the letters. As the witness and the prosecutor pored tediously over the documents, the jurors were enabled to follow them closely. The district attorney apparently wanted the letters to be thoroughly scrutinized and understood by the jury.

The subject of the reports of his examination of Thaw made to the attorneys for the defense came up, and Dr. Evans admitted that he did make one report, but that it was a personal and private report, and that he had never been forced to produce such a report. Mr. Jerome directed that a subpoena be served on him directing him to produce the report.

The letter which Thaw wrote from Paris after Evelyn Nesbit had told him her story was produced, and Dr. Evans was asked if it showed evidence of insanity. Taken by itself, the doctor said, it would not enable him to say positively whether the writer was insane or not. Dr. Evans started to read part of the Paris letter, saying: "Mrs. Astor was here last week, but went away again. There are a lot of beauties—"

Mr. Jerome interrupted. "I did not ask you to read the letter," he said. Mr. Hartridge of Thaw's counsel said later that while the name sounded like "Astor," he did not think the name was mentioned. Dr. Evans was given a typewritten copy of Mr. Delmas' hypothetical question, which he promised to read.

Thaw enlivened an extremely dull session of his trial by giving out to newspaper men a brief statement in which he accused District Attorney Jerome of having made unprofessional remarks in court, asserted that his wife's testimony was absolute truth, and in conclusion declared that Mrs. Thaw's "natural real goodness" was above the comprehension of the prosecuting officer. Thaw's note reads: "This is Mr. Thaw's second statement since Aug. 10: 'With chances millions to one against her, after the catastrophe in 1901, it is wonderful that Mrs. H. K. Thaw prevailed in the cross-examination against the prosecution backed by blacklegs. Her testimony was absolute truth. Our evidence was of conversations. The cross-examination has proved the exact facts under oath. Mr. Jerome, finding his informants in certain lines falsifiers, concluded by more usual methods, which is to his credit. However, from some of his questions and some of his unprofessional remarks in court, it appeared clearly that the natural and real goodness of the witness is above his comprehension.'"

Thaw began the preparation of this statement Wednesday. One of the newspaper tables adjoins the table occupied by his counsel, and a reporter sitting near the defendant read over the latter's shoulder the two opening paragraphs. When the papers appeared with the extracts from his statement printed in display type, Thaw was much chagrined. Thursday in court he took the reporter to task. He said he had not intended making the statement public until the end of the trial. He further asserted that many mistakes appeared in the portion of the statement that was published, and added that he might make a correction later. In his cell in the Tombs Thaw completed his statement, and after he had spoken to the reporter who had looked over his shoulder, he handed the original draft to another reporter whom he has known for many years and in whom he had confidence.

FLYING BRIGADE OF PICKED MEN

Organized in Paris to Pursue Gang of Bandits Who Are Terrorizing the Frontiers.

Paris, March 1.—The general feeling of alarm created by the increase of crime in France was echoed in the chamber of deputies by an interpellation of the government on the insecurity of life and property in Paris and in the country. Along the Belgian frontier a regular gang of bandits has been robbing and murdering for two years, and their depredations continue in spite of the fact that the police, early in February, succeeded in arresting the ringleaders. During the two years this gang committed thousands of robberies and murders. The streets of Paris, especially in the Montmartre district, are terrorized by "Apaches," as they are termed, and are no longer safe for pedestrians. Premier Clemenceau, in reply, said the government recognized the growing state of insecurity, and a flying brigade of picked policemen had been organized in Paris similar to the regional brigades which were being formed in the country, to cope with the marauders.

SENATOR BAILEY WAS DENOUNCED

By Law Makers for Language Used By Him, and is Called a "Malicious Liar."

Anstin, Tex., March 1.—The aftermath of the premature ending of the investigation of charges against Senator Joseph W. Bailey came when the house of representatives met. Representative after representative arose to denounce Senator Bailey for the language he had used in addressing himself to men who had voted against him. Senator Bailey's assertions were denounced as lies, his language as indecent and abusive, and his manner an insult to the house of representatives of Texas. Representative Sam Johnson, one of the minority, denounced Senator Bailey as "a willful, malicious and premeditated liar."

Seattle Exposition. Washington, March 1.—The senate passed the bill extending government aid to the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition, to be held in 1909 at Seattle, and debated for several hours the denatured alcohol bill, reaching no conclusion on the latter measure. The conference report on the army appropriation bill was presented, and by the senate receding on the point in controversy, its provisions for the retirement of paymasters' clerks, a complete agreement between the two houses resulted.

The letter which Thaw wrote from Paris after Evelyn Nesbit had told him her story was produced, and Dr. Evans was asked if it showed evidence of insanity. Taken by itself, the doctor said, it would not enable him to say positively whether the writer was insane or not. Dr. Evans started to read part of the Paris letter, saying: "Mrs. Astor was here last week, but went away again. There are a lot of beauties—"

FORFEIT FRANCHISE FOR FIFTY MILLION

San Francisco, March 1.—At a stormy meeting, the board of supervisors declared forfeited to the city and county of San Francisco the franchises and works of the Spring Valley Water company, upon which the company itself places a total estimated value of $50,000,000. The action of forfeiture was taken by the board of supervisors under the provisions of a state law which the company is accused of having violated by charging 1902 schedule rates in 1906.

Utica, O., March 1.—Ed Lerenman on Monday negotiated the purchase of the old American House property on Main street. He announces that he will erect a temporary store room for his clothing business on the south side of the building, and that as soon as he can get possession of the American House he will remodel its south room for his store. The property has been owned by Mrs. Dennis Hickey of Newark, and it is now under lease to Jacob Joseph who sublets it in suites at a good profit. Mr. Lerenman had hauled his goods to the station for shipment for want of a room before he made this purchase. George W. and Charles Roberts have dissolved their partnership in the Roberts home farm in Morgan township and the Patton farm in Washington township. George W. is now sole owner of the home farm, and Charles alone owns the Patton place. Sam McKittick has bought the interest of his brother George in the rink property where the recent fire occurred. He has had the rink moved to the street end and states that he will have a plate glass square front built onto it, and that it will be fitted into two good rooms for business. A. H. Shaw has sold his shoe store to J. G. Morris & Co., a firm which has stores in several towns. Possession is to be given about April 1, after an inventory. The present location will be retained. Mr. Shaw expects to return to his old love—farming. Nick Hall has bought back the interest of the Watson brothers in the bakery and restaurant and is now a partner with Sheldon Jewett.

Carmel, Ill., March 1.—By an explosion of dynamite Rev. J. B. Tittle, his father, his wife and baby, were killed, and two children of the family were fatally injured. Mr. Tittle, who was a Baptist minister, had the dynamite in his house, expecting to use the explosive in blowing out stumps. How the dynamite happened to explode is not known. All who could tell anything about it were killed. The residence was totally destroyed.

Not a Joke. St. Petersburg, March 1.—The following details of the murder at Karsnoyarsk, Siberia, of General Koslevsky, the commandant of that town, have been received here: The general was walking on the street with some friends and he referred jokingly to a threatening letter he had received, saying he would be killed at 5 o'clock that afternoon. Drawing his watch from his pocket the general remarked laughingly to his friends, "You see I am still alive." At about 6 o'clock, when General Koslevsky was returning home alone, a man suddenly called upon him to halt, and then fired three revolver shots at him. The general dropped dead.

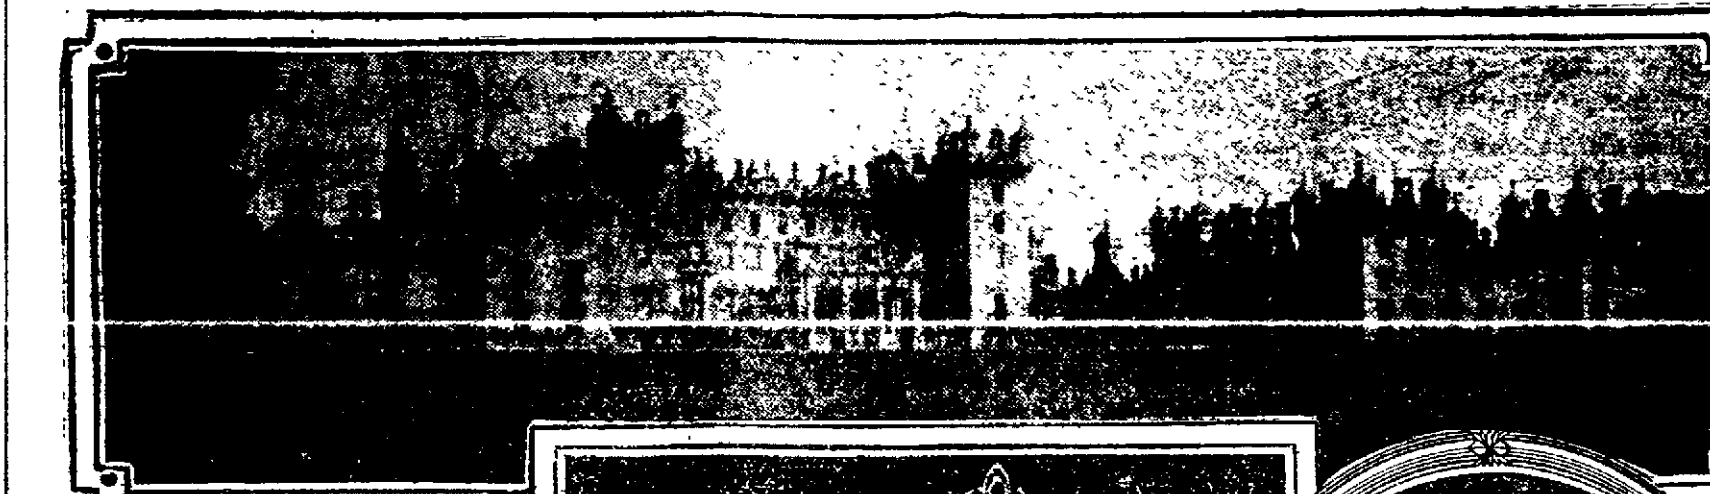

Peace Day. Chicago, March 1.—Members of the department of superintendency of the National Educational association, at the closing session of their three days' convention here, recommended the observance by all schools in the United States of May 18 of each year in commemoration of the conference that led to the establishment of the peace tribunal at The Hague. The educators declared their belief in "the great significance of the movement to substitute arbitration for war in the settlement of international disputes."

Derelict Corporations Sued. Kansas City, Mo., March 1.—Suits were brought on the advice of the secretary of state of Missouri against 133 corporations of various kinds, charging failure to comply with the state law, which provides that the officers of each concern shall make an annual report to the secretary of state for the amount of stock carried, the name of officials, etc. The penalties in the suits aggregate close to $500,000.

Ship Subsidy Debate. Washington, March 1.—When general debate on the ship subsidy bill in the house terminated, the bill was read under the five-minute rule for amendment. The leaders on both sides were drawn into the debate. By a vote of 112 to 127 the house defeated an amendment excepting the Sierra, Sonoma and Ventura of the Oceanic line from the operation of the bill, empowering the postmaster general to make contracts with citizens of the United States for carrying the mails on steamships. Mr. Birdsell of Iowa closed the general debate for the opponents of the bill and Mr. Grosvenor of Ohio for its advocates.

Carried Off Jewels. Cleveland, O., March 1.—The jewelry store of Samuel Leichtman was robbed of gems valued at $1,500. The thieves sawed through the wall.

SIX MANGLED IN DYNAMITE EXPLOSION

Carmel, Ill., March 1.—By an explosion of dynamite Rev. J. B. Tittle, his father, his wife and baby, were killed, and two children of the family were fatally injured. Mr. Tittle, who was a Baptist minister, had the dynamite in his house, expecting to use the explosive in blowing out stumps. How the dynamite happened to explode is not known. London, Mar. 1.—An Edinburgh correspondent wires in view of the contemplated visit of the Prince and Princess of Wales to Floors Castle, the magnificent ancestral seat of the Dukes of Roxburghe, the Duchess of Roxburghe (nee Miss Goelet, of New York), is spending $500,000 in necessary preparations. Improvements and additions of the most extensive description are about to be carried out of the castle for the purpose of beautifying one of the most charming and attractive castles in Scotland. Already almost a million dollars has been spent in restoring Floors Castle which, prior to the Duke marrying Miss Goelet, was unoccupied for many years.

PAUL MORTON WAS MADE PRESIDENT OF THE EQUITABLE

New York, March 1.—Paul Morton was re-elected president of the Equitable Life Assurance society at the annual meeting of the board of directors. W. A. Day formerly vice president and comptroller, was elected vice president. C. E. Phelps, formerly assistant secretary, was chosen treasurer. Gerald R. Brown, formerly deputy comptroller, was promoted to comptroller. All the other officers of the society were re-elected.

Lunatic Wanted to See Kaiser. Berlin, March 1.—A man wearing the uniform of a dragoon officer tried to enter the palace but a policeman on duty at the entrance, noting inaccuracies in the stranger's uniform, stopped and questioned him at length. Finally the man was arrested and taken to a police station. He turned out to be a dangerous lunatic, a workman named William Heilmann, who came here from Harburg, Prussia.

Amend Lafayette Bill. Washington, March 1.—Conferees on the Lafayette bill to promote the safety of employees and travelers upon railroads by limiting the hours of service of employees reached an agreement on the measure. The bill was amended in several particulars. The provision relating to employees who have been on duty for 16 hours out of 24 hours was amended so that the required eight hours off duty shall be consecutive.

at Buckingham palace, said it reminded him very much of what occurs on similar occasions at Washington, though he observed:

"It is noticeable to an American that there is no handshaking." Otherwise there are the same brilliant army and navy uniforms, the same diplomatic corps and the same music of the band. Nothing, he said, struck him more than the good looks of the King, who appeared uncommonly well, and his gracious manner, as if His Majesty was pleased to be there. He was, however, much impressed by the silence and expedition of it all, indicating the excellent organization.

In America, of course, those attending the reception would not wear court dress, but on the whole there is a great similarity between the English and the American state functions.

HUSBAND SHOT THE ACTRESS AND HER COMPANION

Brunswick, Ga., March 1.—Lillian Davenport was shot and almost instantly killed and W. H. Brown, a bartender, was probably fatally wounded, at Windsor park, this city. The woman's husband, manager of the Majestic theater, was arrested, charged with the double crime, which he denies. Windsor park is an amusement resort near the city, and it was to this place that Brown and the actress went. They were seated on a bench in a secluded spot when they were shot.

Wilkie Probing Robbery. Chicago, March 1.—John E. Wilkie, chief of the secret service of the United States, arrived in Chicago and immediately took charge of the investigation of the recent robbery at the subtreasury. It was announced by government officials that no definite clew has been obtained, and no arrests are in immediate prospect.

Michigan Democrats. Flint, Mich., March 1.—The Democratic state committee placed in nomination the following ticket: For justices of the supreme court, George N. Stone of Ithaca and John R. Carr of Grand Haven; for records of the University of Michigan, Woodbridge N. Ferris of Big Rapids and Judge Henry A. Harmon of Detroit; for member state board of education, Saml. H. Parkhill of Owosso.

Engine Explodes. Hammond, Ind., March 1.—A Michigan Central railroad engine exploded near here. The fireman, Edward Krest, was instantly killed, and S. Barnoski, the engineer, was seriously scalded. Both live at Michigan City. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

ALLEGED A PLOT TO FIX MURDER

OF EX-GOVERNOR STEUBENBERG UPON MINER'S FEDERATION OFFICIALS.

Was Formed by Detectives to be Backed by Evidence Obtained by Threats.

Wallace, Idaho, March 1.—Steve Adams, on trial here charged with murder, testified in court that a deliberate conspiracy was formed among the officers of the penitentiary and the detectives to implicate the leaders of the Western Federation of Miners in the assassination of ex-Governor Steunenberg, and that the conspiracy was to be backed by false evidence, obtained by threats and bribes. Adams said his own confession of the murder of Tyler was obtained under duress. He claimed Detective McPartland obtained the same by unfair means. Adams said:

"When the confession was made McPartland led me on step by step and showed me all that he wanted me to say. He told me that what I said about the Tyler and Bonle murders was only taken with the idea of making a strong chain of evidence to convict the officers of the Western Federation of Miners. He wanted the names of the officers of the federation used as much as possible all through the confession. Two or three days later Varden Whitney brought the confession to me to sign."

Harriman Hearing Postponed. New York, March 1.—Chairman Knapp of the interstate commerce commission announced that the investigation into the financial methods of the Harriman group had been postponed to a date to be fixed later by the commission. As to an appeal to the courts to compel Edward H. Harriman and Otto Kahn to answer many important questions declined by them, the question will be considered after the commission returns to Washington. Contrary to expectations, William G. Rockefeller was not called to testify regarding the alleged sale to him by Harriman of 300,000 shares of Union Pacific at the time of the so-called Keene raid in 1903.

Strother Brothers Testify. Culpepper, Va., March 1.—To avenge the wrong done his sister, Philip Strother, one of the defendants on trial for the murder of his brother-in-law, William Bywaters, admitted on the witness stand that, while he had not anticipated trouble, he "shot to kill" when Bywaters attempted to desert his "bride of an hour." The knowledge of his sister's betrayal, James A. Strother, the other defendant, testified, caused him to "become like a crazy man," and when Bywaters attempted to leave the house he determined to bring her betrayer "to a reckoning." Four witnesses, two brothers, a sister, and an uncle of Mrs. Bywaters, testified.

Firearms Held Up. New Orleans, March 1.—It develops that firearms consigned to both the Nicaraguan and Honduras governments are being held up here, 25 cases of rifles for the former nation and 45 for the latter. United States District Attorney Howe has wired the treasury department for instructions regarding the shipments. Dr. Juan Fernandez, consul of Honduras, is of the opinion that the federal officials can not, in accordance with international law, interfere with shipments of arms to either his government or that of Nicaragua.

ENGINEER BURNED TO DEATH IN SIGHT OF THE PASSENGERS.

FIREMAN FATALLY INJURED

And About Thirty Passengers Were Cut and Bruised—Wreck Near Connellsville, Pa.

Connellsville, Pa., March 1.—Passenger train No. 49, westbound, on the Baltimore & Ohio road, was wrecked near Indian Creek, seven miles east of this city. The train was 18 minutes late and at the time of the accident was running 40 miles an hour.

The engineer was killed, the fireman fatally injured, and the baggage-master, express messenger, conductor and six passengers were seriously injured. About 30 passengers were more or less cut and bruised. The dead: Wylie Irwin, Pittsburg, engineer, caught under the wrecked engine and burned to death before the eyes of the passengers, who were powerless to liberate him. Fatally injured: T. D. Frederick, Pittsburg, fireman.

Among the seriously injured are B. O. Hull, Garretttsville, O.; Mrs. J. W. Tissue, Morgantown, W. Va.

The train, consisting of a combination smoking and baggage car, two day coaches and the private car of Robert J. Finney, superintendent of the Pittsburg division of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, left the rails and after running for 200 feet along the ties was thrown into a ditch at the foot of the mountains, where the wreckage was completely burned.

There were 41 passengers on the train, including a party of Baltimore & Ohio railroad officials who were on a tour of inspection. The train was making about 40 miles an hour. Suddenly the whole train swayed and with much jarring and cracking left the rails, and after running over 200 feet along the ties plunged into a ditch at the foot of the mountains. The four cars piled in a heap almost directly over the engine. The passengers were thrown and tossed about like packages. Screaming and fighting desperately, they managed to break the windows of the cars and gain places of safety just as all the cars became ignited from the engine and commenced to burn fiercely. Within a few moments all had got out. While they stood about in a dazed condition, hardly realizing their miraculous escape, they were attracted by the cries of Engineer Irwin. Several of the passengers, accompanied by Superintendent Finney and the other railroad officials, ran to the engineer's rescue. Their efforts were accelerated by Irwin's pathetic pleading, but without success. The flames quickly burned their way to the doomed man. Superintendent Finney said: "The wreck was caused by some part of the engine mechanism becoming loosened and dropping to the track, throwing the train from the rails."

INDIANA WRECKS WERE OCCASIONED BY CARELESSNESS

Indianapolis, Ind., March 1.—The state railroad commission in its official report to the legislature on the recent wrecks at Woodville, Fowler, and the explosion of a car of powder at Sandford, which destroyed a Big Four passenger train, scores railroad employes for disregarding the rules, asks that railroad companies require a more thorough knowledge of the rules on the part of their employes, and recommends a law compelling railroads with an annual gross income of $5,000 or more per mile to install an improved block system along their lines. It is also recommended that no telegraph operators less than 21 years of age be employed, and that railroads cease to accede to the reckless demand of the traveling public for greater speed.

Work Trains In Collision. Las Vegas, N. M., March 1.—In a collision of work trains at the Salt Lake route washout near Caliente, at least three persons were killed and several fatally injured. A special train carrying 40 of those most seriously hurt left here for Los Angeles, where medical attention may be secured. Accompanying the train were two doctors.

Canal Nominations Confirmed. Washington, March 1.—The senate confirmed the nominations of all the isthmian canal commissioners sent to the senate on the 15th instant, including Chairman Shonts and Chief Engineer Stevens.

RAILWAY AFFAIRS

Will Vote on Age Limit.

Stockholders of the Pennsylvania will be asked to vote on a modification of the company's pension system increasing the age limit at which men may be employed from 35 years to either 40 or 45 years, at the annual meeting next month.

P. R. R. Trainmen Still Voting

Trainmen on the Pennsylvania are still negotiating with officers of the company for a change in wages and working hours to their benefit. A vote was recently taken and it is said that the men are again voting whether to accept the situation or strike. They claim they are now in a position to compel recognition from the company.

Reduced Passenger Rates.

Prospects are now that the new reduced rate on railroads west of Pittsburgh for passenger travel will become effective between April 1 and 15. These will be flat 2 cent fares for Ohio and Indiana, while action for Pennsylvania, Illinois and Michigan will remain for further development as to the time the rate laws in these states to the time the rate laws in these states. The Ohio law will have been in effect one year on March 10, while the new Indiana law will become effective as soon as the legislative acts are published in the permanent book form. Leaders of both parties in the legislature have agreed to hasten this publication to have the book appear as near April 1 as possible. No enactment clause was placed in the rate act, and the Indiana constitution makes it imperative that the acts passed and signed by the governor shall become effective on publication of the full acts of the legislature.

From what can be learned, the 2 cent rate is to be enforced by the railroads, basing all long distance rates on short-line mileage. The 2 cent rate is to be made to apply to lower rates usually given to commuters near large cities, according to statements made by officers of some roads. Whether this will be done where there is strong competition with electric lines remains to be developed.

B. & O. Loading Ice.

The B. & O. began loading ice at Sandusky Monday, and expect to continue throughout the week. On Wednesday 30 cars were loaded and shipment begun. The company expects to average between 35 and 50 cars per day until the shipping is finished.

Coal Rates to Be Fixed.

Executive and traffic officers of various roads are attending a meeting of the Trunk Line committee and the Eastern Ohio and Western Pennsylvania Coal Traffic association, held in New York this week. Whether further action on increasing rates on coal will be considered has not been learned, although it is known that the officers have decided to abolish between 75 and 80 per cent of the commodity rates, placing the commodities in the "official classification." That rates on steel will be advanced is a foregone conclusion from action taken by officers on various kinds of freight. Meetings to discuss increasing rates have been held almost daily.

Other Roads Asking About Poles.

Reinforced concrete telegraph poles are attracting wide interest among railroad men, following the experimental tests made last week under the auspices of Superintendent of Telegraph Celler of the Pennsylvania lines, this division. These poles were made at the suggestion of R. Cummings, a Pittsburg engineer, and his invention may revolutionize this phase of railroad construction. Officers of many railroads, particularly those in the east, have had great difficulty in securing poles except from Canada and the far northwest, and these wooden poles cost so much that the officers will welcome any substitute that will answer the purposes. Further tests will probably be made shortly and in these tests will be included other forms of the reinforced concrete pole. It is probable that an experimental line of these poles will be built along the Pennsylvania lines. Further tests will be witnessed by officers of many railroads in the east.

Maintain Steel Ties Are Best.

Officers of the Carnegie Steel company and other manufacturers of steel railroad cross ties are not at all satisfied with the report of the Pennsylvania railroad committee, which cited that the steel ties may have been partly responsible for the wreck at Mineral Point last Friday night. Col. H. P. Bope of the Carnegie company is not yet ready to issue a statement although severe and successful tests have been made with the steel ties, both on the Deschutes & Lake Erie and Ft. Wayne roads. On the latter at Emsworth steel ties have been in a seamy curve of the west bound passenger track four years. The ties have been so successful on the Bessemer that that road now has several miles of track laid with them and several miles more are to be laid with them this year.

OIL AND GAS NOTES

(Utica Herald.)

Kinsey got started on the Utica company's George Sperry well No. 3 last Wednesday.

The Kelly Oil and Gas company has hauled in a rig for No. 3 on the Mary Kelly 114 acres in Clinton township.

Rose Wilson No. 3 of the Mohican company, drilled in by Scott last Wednesday night is good for two millions.

The Consumers company has located another well in wildcat territory. It is on the C. P. Thompson farm, near Jersey.

The Ellic Oldaker well of the Ohio Fuel in Bennington township, has come in and is light, only about one million.

Pearson started the John Behon well of the Central Ohio Tuesday. Caz Deems and Fred Gilchrist are holding the bench down.

The Knox County Oil and Gas Co. which is starting No. 3 on the Letts farm, has also a second well under way on the R. J. Robinson 45 acres in Clinton township.

In the Simmons well of the Greenwood company in Pike township, Knox county, big water was struck at a little over 1800 feet, and the crews are counting on staying by it the rest of the winter.

J. L. Kirkpatrick has leased Wilson Sperry's pasture lot, and has had the rig hauled in for a well on it, just across the creek from the Utica company's Smoots No. 2. Mr. Kirkpatrick's best well on his own farm dried again Monday from too hard service.

The Utica Co. has been obliged to take about one-half million feet per day from the Central Ohio of late, at 6 cents, to maintain good service to both factories and domestic. If the well now being drilled is a good one it will thus cut off about $30 per day expense.

The Samuel Elliott well of the Buckeye State Co., drilled in by Klise Tuesday, was very light, showing barely 200,000 feet. There was 32 feet of sand, but it was broken and slaty. The well was shot by Mr. Shuster yesterday, and it bids fair to shut in at half a million after cleaning.

HEROIC MOTHER SAVES HER BOY

Zanesville, March 1.—That Willie McBride, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. McBride, is alive today is due to the presence of mind of his mother, when his clothing caught fire at the open grate.

William was playing in the room with the older children and brushed too close to the fireplace. In a twinkling his clothing was ablaze.

Mrs. McBride ran into the room and saw her boy in flames from head to foot. Realizing his peril she grasped a heavy rug and immediately enveloped the lad in it, smothering out the flames, but not until his outer garments were almost all consumed. His little body was slightly burned in two places, but otherwise, except for the fright, he is as well as usual.

A RELIABLE MEDICINE

Why Our Local Druggist, Frank D. Hall, Recommends Vinol.

So many patent medicines and advertised cures are now offered to the public that our readers will be glad to know the opinion of a man who has spent years in handling them, and profit by his advice.

Said Mr. Hall: "There is no one medicine that will cure everything, but this I do know, that if the people of Newark only realized the wonderful curative and strength creating power of Vinol I would not have clerks enough in my store to put up the orders for it.

"You see, Vinol is not a patent medicine, and it actually does contain every one of the fifty odd medicinal curatives actually taken from fresh cods' livers, with the useless oil eliminated and tonic iron added. It contains no poisonous drugs, and you know just what you are taking.

"Therefore, in the strongest manner we endorse and recommend Vinol to increase the appetite, cure stomach troubles, give strength to the run down, tired and debilitated, invigorate and build up old people, make rich, red blood, cure chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis. If it fails we return your money." Frank D. Hall, Druggist.

Note—While we are sole agents for Vinol in Newark, it is now for sale at the leading drug store in nearly every town and city in the country. Look for the Vinol agency in your town.

A BIRTHDAY PARTY NEAR CLAY LICK

The beautiful rural home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Morrison, located a short distance south of Clay Lick, was the scene of a very pretty and joyous occasion on Wednesday evening, February 27th, 1907, it being the celebration of Mrs. Morrison's birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Morrison was taken completely

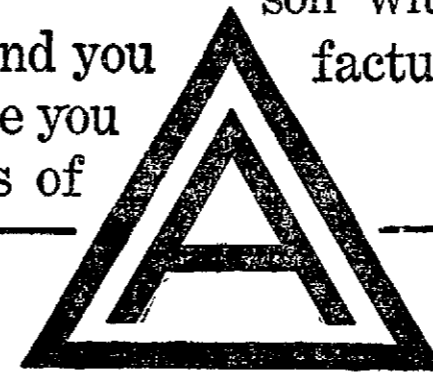

Who Makes the Cigars You Smoke

Perhaps you never thought the matter of very much importance—but considered it enough to know the retailer from whom you bought.

But when you are repeatedly stung with poor cigars you cannot always blame the retailer—that isn't the way to avoid unreliable brands. Because that very same retailer probably carries in stock the best brands of cigars made—if you only ask for them.

You ought to KNOW

When you get a poor cigar—and you don't know who made it—how are you going to avoid the other brands of the same manufacture? Don't you see that there is no way to prevent dishonest or incompetent manufacturers from repeatedly imposing on you by offering you unidentified brands of different names?

The NEW

is convincing evidence of the improved quality which the Triangle A guarantees. Every box is extra-wrapped in glassine paper to keep the cigars clean, fresh and in perfect smoking condition.

The American Cigar Company stands back of its brands with a responsible guarantee of their quality. We stamp the boxes of our standard brands with our Triangle A merit mark so you can immediately distinguish them wherever you go.

Then we invite you—even urge you—to go to any store and ask for any one of our Triangle A brands—then judge it strictly on its merits in critical comparison with the cigars of any other manufacture sold you at the same price.

Isn't that a square deal?

Do you know any other cigar manufacturer who stands back of his product in the same unmistakable way and on the same responsible basis, with as plain a guarantee of value?

PAN-SLAVISM'S GIFT TO PRESIDENT.

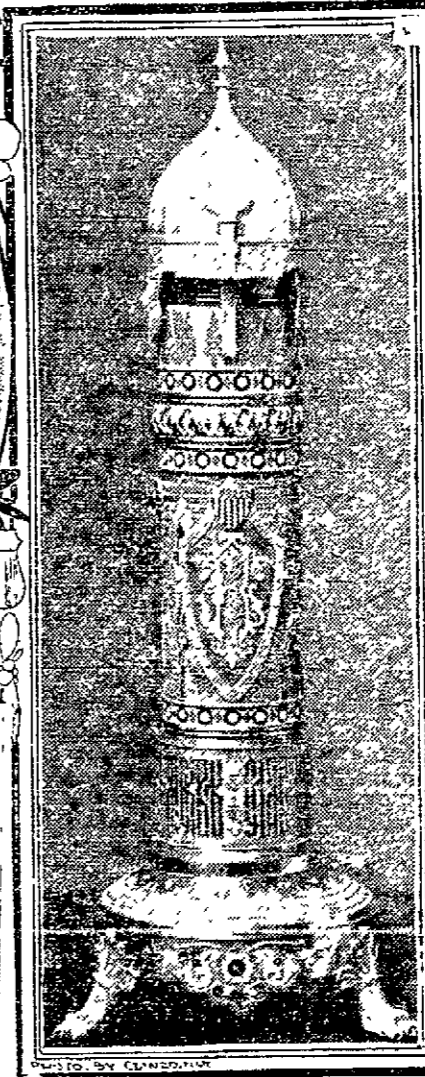

GENERAL COUNT ARTHUR TCHERP-SPIRIDOVITCH

New York, March 1.—General Count Arthur Tcherp-Spiridovitch, president of the Great Slavic Society in Moscow and head of the Slavic movement in Europe, arrived yesterday from Washington, and is at the St. Regis.

General Tcherp-Spiridovitch came to this country especially to present to President Roosevelt, in behalf of the Slavic society, a handsome cup, in recognition of Mr. Roosevelt's efforts in bringing about world peace.

The presentation took place in Washington Thursday.

The cup which was presented to President Roosevelt is a fine example of Slavic art. It was made in Moscow by the most skilled silversmiths, and is of silver and gold, ornamented with enamel. The base is three lion's legs.

CUP PRESENTED TO PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT IN BEHALF OF GREAT SLAVIC SOCIETY

Standing two feet high, it is inscribed in Slavic characters and bears also the initials "T. R." Cups of this sort are presented, it is said, only to crowned heads and great rulers.

Let Us Pay

For a Bottle of New Liquezone, and Give it to You to Try.

There is nothing to buy—not a penny to pay. We will buy the first bottle if you will try it and learn what Liquezone means to you.

Countless people have done that during the past five years. Some were discouraged and hopeless, believing that help was impossible. To many the facts seemed too good to be true. But they let the product itself prove its power. Then they told the results to others, and the others told others, until millions of people, all the world over, have shared in the benefits of this invention.

What Liquezone Is.

Liquezone is a tonic-germicide, the virtues of which are derived solely from oxide gases. No alcohol, no narcotic, nothing but gas enters into it. The process of making requires large apparatus, and consumes 14 days' time. The object is to combine the gases with a liquid as to carry their virtues into the system.

The result is a germicide so certain that we publish with every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that Liquezone cannot kill. It destroys them because germs are of vegetable origin. But to the body Liquezone is exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying.

That is its main distinction. Common germicides are poisons when taken internally. They are impossible, for they destroy the tissues as well as the germs. That is why medicine proves so helpless in dealing with germ diseases. Liquezone, on the contrary, acts as a remarkable tonic.

We Paid $100,000.

For the rights to Liquezone, after thousands of tests had been made with it, after its power had been demonstrated for more than two years in the most difficult germ diseases. Conditions which had resisted medicine for years yielded at once to it, and diseases considered incurable were cured.

That was five years ago. Since then millions of people in every part of the world have shared in the benefits of this invention. Nearly every hamlet, every neighborhood, has living examples of its power. Now we ask you to let it do for you what it did for them.

Germ Diseases.

Most of our sickness has, in late years, been traced to germ attacks. Some germs—as in skin troubles—directly attack the tissues. Some create toxins, causing such troubles as Rheumatism, Blood Poison, Kidney Disease and nerve weakness. Some destroy vital organs, as in Consumption. Some—like the germs of Catarrh—create inflammation; some cause indigestion. In one of these ways, nearly every serious ailment is a germ result.

Such conditions call for a germicide, not for common drugs. Liquezone does what other means cannot accomplish. And it is wrong to cling to old ways when millions of people know a way that is better.

50c Bottle Free.

If you wish to know what Liquezone does please send us this coupon. We will then mail you an order on a local druggist for a fullsize bottle, and will pay the druggist ourselves for it. This is our free gift, made to convince you; to let the product itself show you what it can do. In justice to yourself, please accept it to-day, for it places you under no obligations whatever.

Liquezone costs 50c and $1.

SCENES IN GARTH WHERE PRINCE CHRISTIAN HUNTS.

PRINCE CHRISTIAN AND HIS HOUNDS IN THE GARTH HOUNDS

MEET THE GARTH FOXHOUNDS AT WELLINGTON

London, Mar. 1.—Among the most successful of the winter meetings in England was that of the Garth hounds, which, in spite of the spread of bricks and mortar in many parts of the country, continue to show good sport to a large following. The members of the Garth are very proud of the fact that King Edward is their president, while one of their most regular followers is Prince Christian, a keen sportsman.

There are few provincial countries better supplied with foxes than the Garth. This hunt takes its name from Mr. T. C. Garth, who hunted the hounds 50 years without a break and is still hale and hearty. Mr. R. H. Gosling, his successor in the mastership, has maintained the good reputation of the pack. Last season the hounds killed 54 1-2 brace of foxes and ran another 15 brace to ground in their 122 hunting days, none of which was blank.

MAN WINS WIFE BY MAIL.

Mt. Vernon, O., March 1.—A wedding, the result of a courtship by correspondence, took place here on Thursday, the groom being Louis Schaeffer of Chicago, and the bride Miss Florence Marks of this city. The two were placed in correspondence with each other by a mutual friend several months ago and photographs were exchanged. They never saw each other, however, until Wednesday, when Schaeffer came to claim his bride. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. B. Williams. Mr. and Mrs. Schaeffer left at once for Cleveland and after March 4 will be at home in Chicago.

About 35,000 tons of paper are annually turned out at Skein, Norway. The laborers, 1,000 in number, receive only 49 cents to $1.10 per day.

NEW PASTOR INSTALLED.

Delaware, O., March 1.—Rev. Jno. C. Gekeler, the newly appointed pastor of Zion's Reformed church, was installed last evening, the services being conducted by Rev. J. E. Stone, of Thornville, and Rev. B. E. Reimsnyder and Rev. W. H. Tusig of Columbus. Only twice in 43 years has such a service been performed in this church, the congregation having but two other pastors since 1863.

Military Department—Stock Sale
—Bazaar—Personals.

Johnstown, O., March 1.—Johnstown Company No. 16, Military Department of the Knights of Pythias, was inspected Wednesday night by Col. W. C. Graham of Lancaster, commanding officer of the First regiment of which this local company is a part. Following inspection lunch was served to which all partook with delight.

The regular monthly stock sales have started off with more than usual interest taken and with larger crowds present than had been anticipated. Friday, the February sale was attended by a good crowd throughout the day. Buyers were present as usual and several sales were made, besides the merchants were busy offering bargains which made the day one of profit for those in attendance. Next sale March 29, the last Friday in the month.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Ross have gone to Florida for an extended visit.

Mrs. O. R. Edwards, who had the misfortune to fall last Sunday and break two ribs, besides sustaining other injuries of a painful nature, is not making as rapid progress toward recovery as could be wished for.

C. V. Armstrong has gone to Shippenburg, Pa., to meet his wife who has been spending the past four or five weeks visiting friends and relatives there and in other parts of the state. It is thought they will arrive home about Saturday.

Mrs. Lenora Adams and Miss Morgan who have been seriously ill for several weeks, are now on the road to recover and Mrs. Jane Philbrook of Columbus, who has been here caring for them has returned home.

Misses Elsie and Nellie Ogle have gone to Woodsfield, where they will make an extended visit, with their brother. The young ladies were accompanied by Mrs. Ogle as far as Zanesville.

Monday evening was the occasion of a parcel shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. French for Mrs. Harvey Gates, given by Miss Mae and Mrs. Cora French. About fifty ladies were present, all of whom brought presents, which are of value and are much appreciated by Mrs. Gates. The evening was very delightfully spent. A fine lunch had been prepared by the hostess of which all partook with delight, after which Mrs. Gates sang a few solos, recited a few favorite selections, danced in the pig trough and did various other acrobatic feats. All left for their homes later, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Gates a long and happy life, and inviting and insisting that they locate permanently in our village.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church are making all preparations necessary for a grand Easter bazaar to be held at the town hall Saturday, March 30. Everything in home made fancy work, wearables and eatables can be purchased at this bazaar during the day and evening. Home laid eggs will also be sold on this day in quantities to suit the purchaser. You can prepare just right for your Easter entertainment if you will attend this bazaar. Remember the date, March 30.

SURVEYING LINE FROM NEW CONCORD

Eastward, While Another Party Are Working Westward From Wheeling.

New Concord, March 1.—The appearance of a surveying party here yesterday caused a great deal of interest and numerous rumors are rife as to the significance of the survey. From a point near Norwich the survey almost parallels the tracks of the B. & O. running a few feet to the south of these tracks.

From New Concord on as far as they have proceeded toward Cambridge they are still following the B. & O. Last evening they were about half way from this city to Cambridge. The surveying corps is in charge of Clem Smith and they claim to know nothing of the plans of the company for which they are working.

Another corps of surveyors is also at work on the other end of what is supposed to be the same line. This party started from Wheeling and are working toward Zanesville. Knowing ones say that an interurban line is to be built connecting Zanesville with Wheeling, and later connecting with Pittsburg.
